Since its opening in 1938 Thomas Carr Howe High School has always emphasized progress in education, citizenship, leadership, and athletics. Progress is something which does not just happen. It is planned and stressed until it is achieved. But progress is not recognized until it has been achieved. In this 1967 HILLTOPPER we hope that you will recognize the progress that you have made in the past year in conjunction with your friends, faculty, school, and community. We present to you the 1967 HILLTOPPER, Blueprint for Progress.

First Day Of School

The first day of school is a day of excitement, wonder, disappointment, joy, and sorrow all rolled into one. There is the ever-present freshman lost in a maze of hallways and students, the new teacher about whom everyone is talking, and the absence of an old friend or a familiar teacher that someone was looking forward to seeing again. There is the school itself, a welcome sight to the eyes of almost everyone, freshman to senior, new teacher or old. The winding walks, the green trees, the tower, symbol of our school, and the atmosphere of friendliness that prevails over the entire student body and faculty from the first day of school and continues throughout the year is progress at Howe.

Brings Teachers And Students Together

Howe High School is composed of an accumulated variety of people. There are short people, tall people, fat, and thin, funny people, serious ones, easily excited and grim.

Howe spectators crowd into the football stadium, and overflow the gymnasium during basketball season. Wrestling teams, cross country groups, and baseball teams are all backed by their faithful fellow students and interested community on-lookers. Howe's auditorium is packed full to the doors when ever a musical, a talent show, or an entertainment program is presented.

The people from Howe and the surrounding neighborhood make this togetherness a part of their daily life.

Individuals And ## Groups Both Find Places At Howe

Classes For Frosh Through Seniors Are

Conducted By Well-Trained Teachers

Many traditions have been nurtured by the Howe Hornets. They have proudly attained many honors and have actively taken part in their busy school and community life. Much accomplishment and pride has become a part of the students of this proud school.

Hornets have built up a reputation that each individual can be proud to claim. Throughout the halls a turmoil of excitement and chatter is created. But when the tardy bell blurts its call, only a business-like fashion is the manner attained.

No matter if the students are freshmen, studying the room numbers or asking for directions, sophomores with their bug nets, juniors proudly showing off their class rings, or seniors preparing themselves for their life after graduation, there is a warm and friendly unity among all Howeites.

Howe Illustrates

Nature, too, progresses. Every year she advances through the seasons, reflecting moods and attitudes. Autumn rarely passes without school, football games, hayrides, and a glorious burst of color. Winter is a time for snow, skates, carols, and mistletoe. Spring comes as soon as the sun begins to melt a winter's snow and causes tiny flowers to grow and birds to sing. As spring quickly changes into summer, there is a sense of anticipation, for summer brings vacation, trips, and, for seniors, commencement.

Moods Of Fall, Winter, Spring, Summer

Activities And Future Plans Fill

The first day in senior home room, that last homecoming game, the senior winter party, the senior-faculty game, the senior play, senior day, vesper services, commencement, and the senior prom are just a few of the highlights of the senior year at Howe. The Shakespearian sonnet for English, the stock reports for Economics, the mock elections, the big physics test, and the calculus final are some of the things we look back on and laugh about. But these events are now behind us and we must prepare for the future. Today we are the leaders of our school; tomorrow we will be the followers of those outside our little world. It seems like only yesterday that we talked of the years we had to consider, which college we would go to, or where to find a job. These years at Howe have been our years to grow and develop for these future goals.

Senior Year At Howe

Sports Form Vital Part Of Life At Howe

A fifty yard touchdown run, a long down-court pass in a tight game, a slide into home to tie the score, a decisive pin in a close match, and a near tie in an important harriers' meet are just a few of the many exciting moments that make up a Howe athletic year. Athletics is more than the Friday night spectacle at Howe. It is the sign of a young man who has devoted much time and energy to achieve a goal which he himself has set. No one deserves as much respect as a dedicated athlete—dedicated to improving himself, his teammates, and his school. Progress through athletics is carried on through such dedication.

ACADEMICS

Education means a lot to quite a few Howe students, and then the fun of learning takes over. The government classes have a lot going on during Mock elections, and although it is fun, a great deal of learning takes place. The chemistry classes are still exciting even if the lab doesn't get blown up while you're there.

The correct way to speak is taught in English, while speech classes put that learning to use. Things carried on in the business classes help prepare tomorrow's leaders.

Every fall nature has to supply the big demand of insects for biology classes, while the students learn their parts. The math department keeps students busy by making them use their heads for learning and thinking things out.

Yes, Academics at Howe count quite a bit, and for that reason, students at Howe count, too.

In a relaxed atmosphere, Miss Janes answers and discusses the problems her students encounter in English.

Miss Ellen O'Drain in charge, the Howe English department demonstrated why it is known as one of the best in the city. With a staff of able and gifted teachers, the English Department lead the student body through the year with enlightenment and occasional entertainment as well.

Here at Howe, besides regular English classes 1 through 8, extra courses are included to add special interest to the curriculum. Among their specialized courses are English 9 and 10, advanced composition and world literature. A great advantage to the would-be writer or college bound Howe-ites is the journalism course offered. Also available is Etymology, commonly known as derivatives, the study of Greek and Latin work stems. It has grown to be a popular subject at Howe.

English teachers, Jack Weaver and Marcia Blair, are taking a sneak preview of a film in preparation for reading laboratory.

Howe's English:

Ellen O'Drain—English department head, Donald R. Austin, Harriette Baker, Elizabeth Baldwin, Bruce L. Beck, Marcia Blair, Elina Bretzlaff, Steven T. Briggs, LaVerne Coffin, E. Dale Dinkens, John Ervin, Patricia Fitzpatrick, Sharon Janes, Rhada Kittelsen, Wayne Mellott, Ruth Mercer, Martha J. Mitchell, Mary J. Pride, Virginia Selewach, Darathy L. Smith, H. C. Tobin, Jack Weaver, Deanna Wells, Diana Wilk.

Emphasizing the dynamics of literature, Mary Jo Pride makes English interesting for the students at Howe High School.

Symbolism, Syllables, And Sentences

As one of the new teachers, Mr. Dinkens is well versed in the fine points of English literature and grammar that often create problems.

Caught in an expressive mood, Elizabeth Baldwin dramatically explains the day's lesson to her class.

Varied Mathematics Courses Present

Howe's mathematics department is one of the best in the state. This reputation is maintained by offering eleven courses and by providing excellent teachers who help the students gain the important mathematical knowledge they will need in future life. The curriculum includes classes ranging from elementary math to college-level calculus. A background is available to all who are interested in this department, headed by Mrs. Morie Wilcox.

Freshmen can elect either general math or first-year Algebra. Sophomores extend their knowledge in plane geometry and more advanced algebra. Juniors and seniors have a wide choice of college-preparatory courses, including trigonometry, college algebra, and analytical geometry and calculus. Pupils find these classes to be a lot of hard work, but also enjoyable and rewarding experiences.

Howe is proud of the staff of capable veteran math teachers. These well-trained instructors work together to give Howites a challenging look at the future.

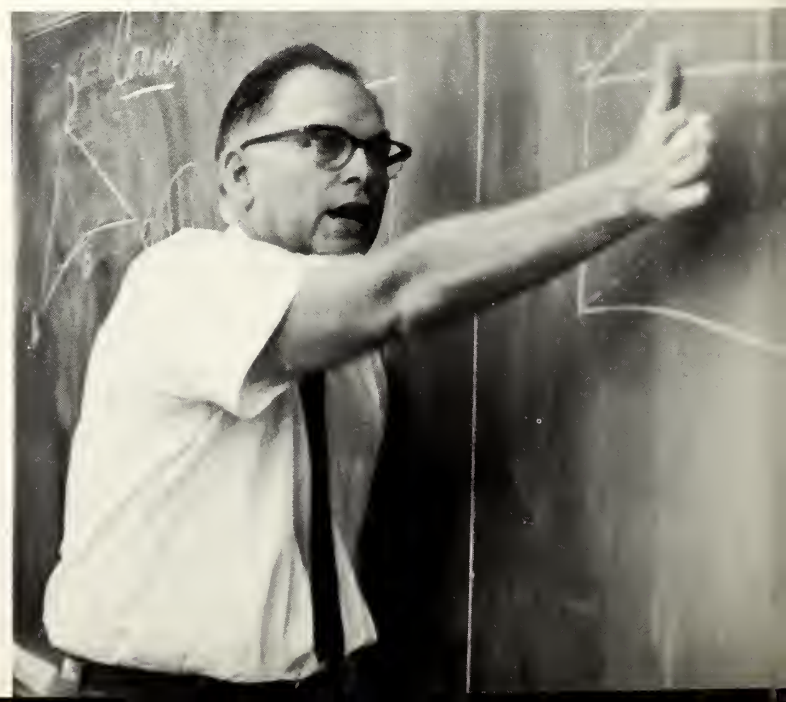

In discussing the day's geometry problems, Mr. Schrader places stress on answering any questions his students may have.

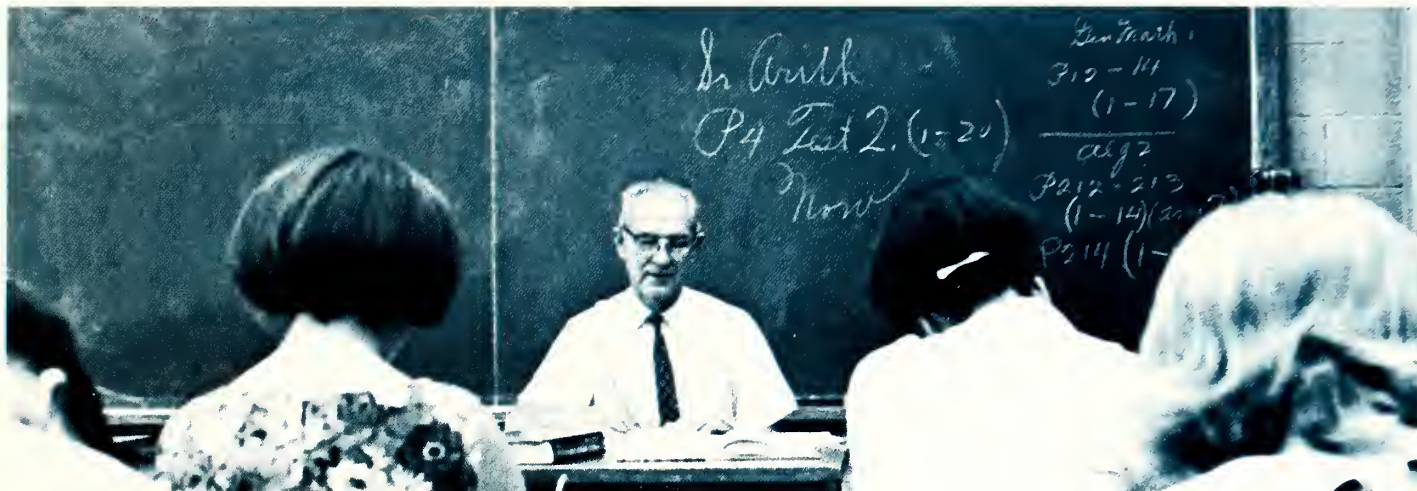

Marie Wilcox, Robert Carr, John Fogle, Fred Lemley, Ruth Reed, Justin Rehm, Harrison Richardson, Glenn Rohde, Roger Schroder, Mary Smuck comprise the math faculty.

Mr. Richardson helps his students understand the functions of angles and lines on a plane through the use of sketches.

A Challenge To Inquiring Students

Taking a math exam can be a challenge at times, but Howe students accept it as a routine part of the course. Mr. Lemley uses the testing period to grade the homework papers that he received daily.

Pleased with her students progress, Mrs. Smuck explains the advantages of knowing the techniques of math in the modern world.

The new math system can be confusing to most students, but Mr. Glenn Rohde makes it easier by carefully explaining the various types of sets.

Howe's History Students Study To Meet

Mr. Stewart stands in deep concentration as he ponders a student's question. Although a little puzzled, he will try his best to answer the student's problem.

Under the leadership of Mr. Hartwell A. Kayler, the Howe Social Studies Department strives for perfection. Most Howe pupils will agree that the department has come very close to reaching the goal of excellence.

Starting with World History 1 and 2, students may progress through required courses U.S. History 1 and 2, Government, and Economics to the elective courses.

In addition to the required courses Howe offers interesting subjects such as Social Problems, Psychology, and International Relations. Also included in the curriculum are Latin American Civilization and Indiana History.

With a concerned expression, Mrs. Randall reviews important facts with her class. She has devoted many years to helping Howe students understand History.

Mr. Brawn stimulates interest in U.S. History classes by presenting colorful dramatizations of History. His interpretations add humor.

Today's Challenges In The Changing World

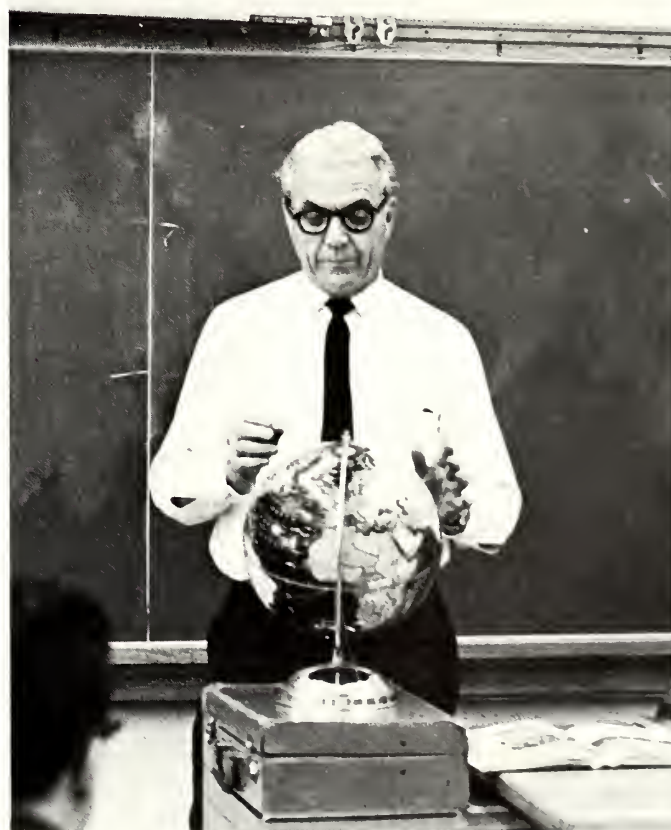

H. A. Kayler—Social Studies department head, Miriam Barnes, Philip Brawn, L. R. Day, Ran W. Finkbiner, Laura Gaus, Daratha E. Kirk, Mary L. McLane, Stanley C. Phillips, Emma T. Randall, James Stainbraak, David Stewart.

Mr. Day, new to Howe this year, instructs his classes using interesting visual aids, such as the glabe, to illustrate his points.

As a teacher of psychology and government, Miss McLane keeps the class enthused with interesting and involved topics an related subjects.

Hornets Are Proud

Mr. William Smith, head of the Science Department, surveys his biology class as they utilize the time given them to prepare a future lesson.

Howe's Science Department is one of the best in the city. It offers excellent teachers and also some of the finest modern equipment. This department gives a wide variety of courses. Physical science and earth science may be taken by students either before or after biology, which is offered mainly to sophomores. Many juniors enroll in chemistry, designed to help pupils apply chemistry to everyday life. For students interested in a science major, physics classes are taught. Those taking physics may also take Biology 3 and Chemistry 3. Howe feels that these courses are beneficial to all students.

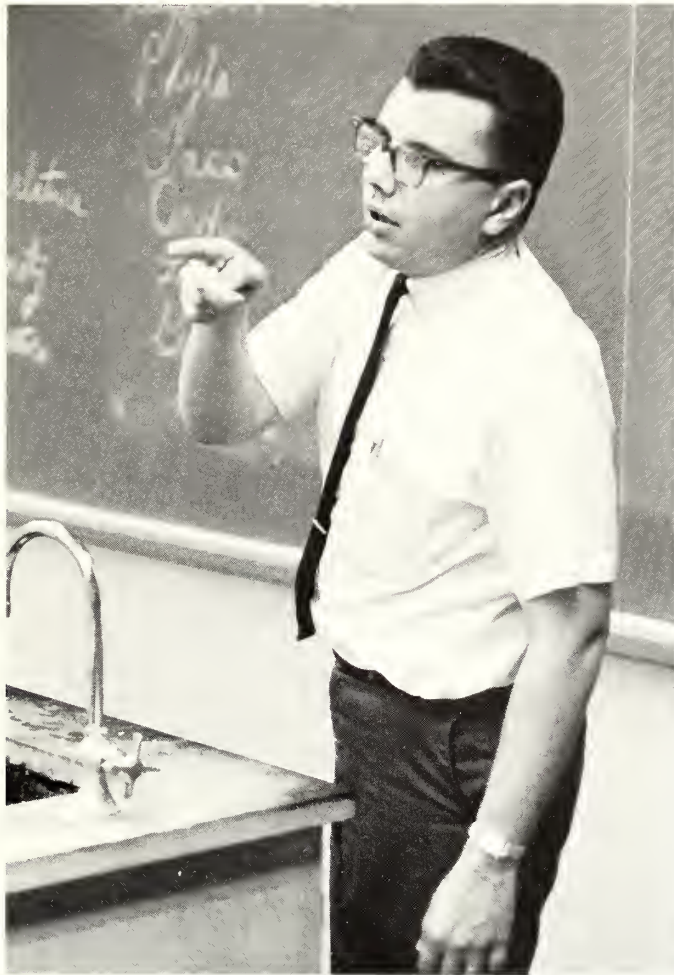

Mr. Raymond Riley, in his second year at Howe, explains the fundamental nitrogen cycle to one of his several biology classes.

Of Their Modern Science Department

Mr. Barton Richardson, physical science teacher, introduces his class to the rather complicated world of chemicals, compounds, and formulas.

Biology teacher Mr. David Stahly emphasizes to his sophomore class the necessity of knowing exactly how to use the new microscopes.

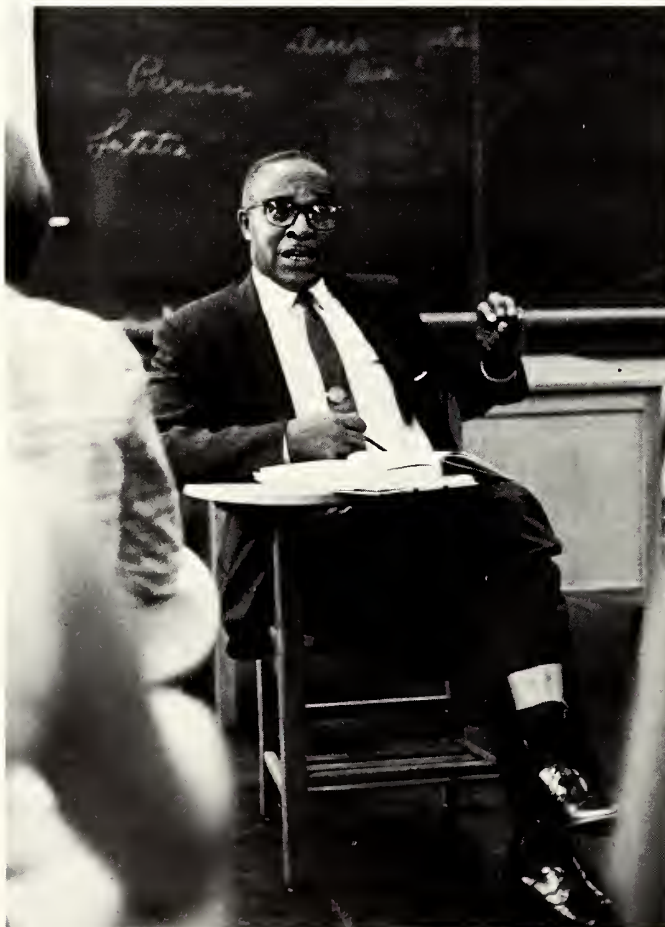

An excellent addition to the Howe Science Department is Mr. Robert Edwards. Here Mr. Edwards is shown explaining a difficult equation to a Chemistry I class.

Language Students Study French, Latin,

Mr. Ramsey explains one of the phases of French culture. This advanced class includes fourth and fifth year students.

Howe's outstanding Foreign Language Department is proud of its achievements. Three students participated in the Indiana University Honors Program. This highly competitive program offers exceptional language students a chance to study abroad. Debra Mather and Ann Wuster attended classes in France last summer while Sherry Eggers lived in Mexico for eight weeks. Valuable experience is gained from this program.

Language students showed their interest by participating in various organizations. The Latin Club began the year with its annual slave sale of new members. This year was the first for the National French Honor Society. Sponsored by Mr. Ramsey, this organization honors outstanding students of French.

Rogelio Riquelme, Spanish teacher, leads his students in a pronunciation drill to improve their accent. Tapes and records in the laboratory are also used for this purpose.

The lab is an important part of studying any language. Mrs. Sauer listens closely for correct pronunciation by her students.

And Spanish And Receive Many Honors

Mary Thumma—Foreign Language Department Head, Vesta Cahee, Raymond Hulce, Ragelia Riquelme, Andrew W. Ramsey, Martha Sauer. Language teachers work hard to teach students the fundamentals of foreign language.

Mr. Hulce, Spanish teacher, not only drills his students in pronunciation and grammar, but also helps them learn the background of the language.

Three Howe students studied abroad last summer. Proudly displaying souvenirs are Debra Mather, Sherry Eggers, and Ann Wuster.

In advanced Spanish classes, students learn the history and appreciation of the language. Miss Thumma lectures to one of classes.

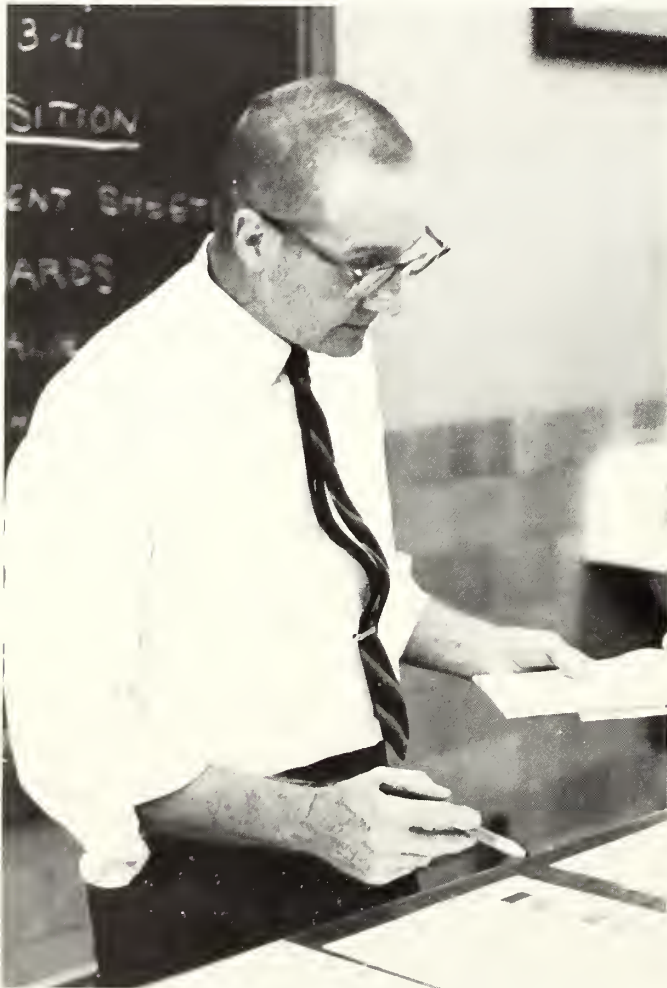

F. M. Howard—Art Department Head, Charles A. Pirtle, Roderick Shaw. Art teachers not only teach art skills, but also teach appreciation of art.

Craft Arts students work in various fields of art and with many interesting projects. Shown preparing for an advanced class is Mr. Shaw.

Art Courses Encourage Future Artists

Mr. Howard uses a free period for preparation of students' grades. As the end of the grading period comes near, he has many projects to grade.

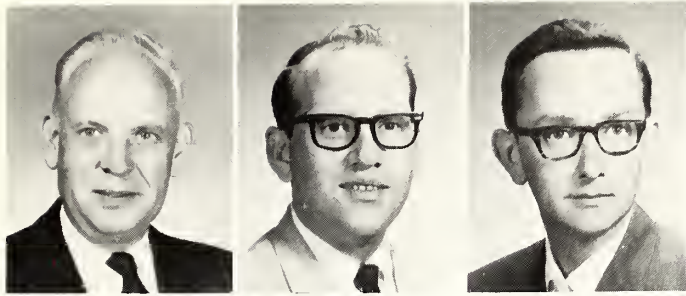

The talented, creative, and artistic students of Howe gain valuable experience in the various art courses offered. Craft Arts, an introductory course, allows students to work with clay, plastics, wood, and metals. Advanced art students learn the fundamentals of painting, sketching, and sculpturing. Commercial Art students are prepared for future careers in advertising. Fashion classes are chosen by those preparing for fashion designing careers.

The Art Department is headed by Mr. F. M. Howard. Art is also taught by Mr. Charles Pirtle and Mr. Roderick Shaw.

Art student Philip Mroz prepares a project for his Commercial Art class. These students learn the fundamentals of advertising.

Frank S. Watkins—Music Department Head, Robert Bramblett, William Handley, Louis McEnderfer. These teachers help students develop skills in many aspects of music, and the vocal and instrumental groups of the Howe music department are well-known for their excellence.

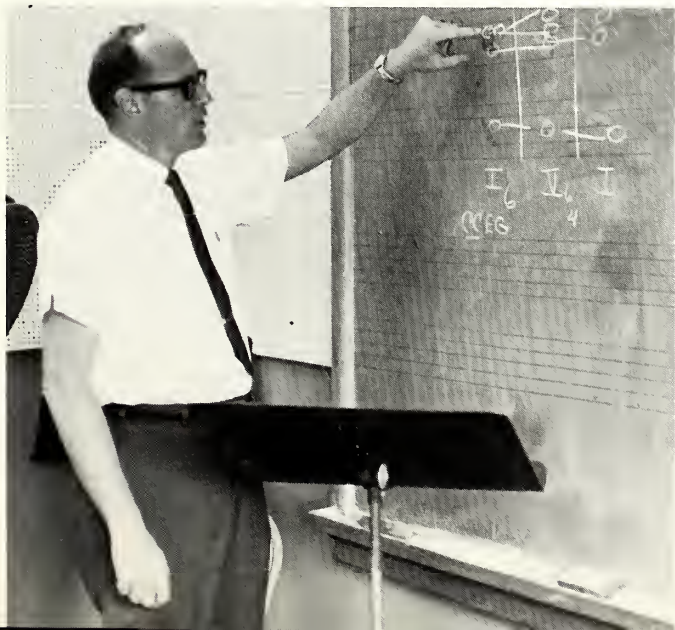

Mrs. Janet McNeill is a familiar sight in the Music Department. She accompanies the Chorus classes and the Choraiares.

Advanced Music Groups Interest Many

The Concert Club rehearses under the direction of Mr. Watkins for a coming performance. This selective group of girls meets one period a day.

The Music Theory course is an important one for students who major in music. Mr. McEnderfer demonstrates the idea of chord progression.

The Howe Music Department, under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins, offers musically talented students many opportunities. The outstanding orchestra, under the direction of Mr. William Handley, participates in several concerts throughout the year and plays for the spring musical. The band marches in city-wide parades and plays at football games.

Advanced vocal groups include the Concert Club for girls, the Choir, and the Girls and Boys Octets. Both the octets travel over the city to perform. The Modrigols, directed by Mr. Robert Bromblett, perform at many school functions.

The Boys Octet is a valuable asset to the Music Department. They not only perform at school functions but for other organizations around the city.

The ROTC staff members are Maj. Gene Smith, Capt. Paul Beaver, Capt. Brad Eshelman, 2nd Lt. Jahn Payne, 2nd Lt. Phil Mroz, 2nd Lt. Lynn Lyndes and Sgt. Maj. Scott Watson. The sponsors are Hon. 2nd Lt. Cindy Kretheotis, Hon. Maj. Dana Runciman, and Hon. 2nd Lt. Terry McNeill.

ROTC Trains In Military Techniques

In his lectures, Sergeant Bascam Perdue helps the boys enrolled in ROTC learn to prepare for future military service.

Sergeant First-Class Bascam Perdue. ROTC offers practical experience to boys and girls interested in the armed forces.

Under the supervision of Sergeant First-Class Bascam Perdue, the boys enrolled in ROTC are able to acquire respect and cooperation from commanding officers. Cadets also learn that strict enforcement of regulations is essential. Heading the ROTC this year is senior Gene Smith.

Five upperclassmen girls are chosen as ROTC sponsors each year. Senior sponsors this year are Dana Runciman and Sherry Eggers, while Cynthia Krethiotis, Janet Runciman, and Theresa McNeil are the junior candidates.

Cadets in ROTC gain experience and skill with various types of arms. Demonstrating to the boys in a class is Steven Hirt.

Business Courses Aid Students' Futures

With plans for the present and the future in mind, the Business Department of Howe provides a more-than-adequate curriculum consisting of shorthand and typing, business law, bookkeeping, salesmanship, office machines and clerical practice. Many other learning procedures of the office are also taught. The great value of the skill of typing is realized by the students. This ability is put to good use not only in preparation for the future, but also for present school work. Students from Howe who are bound for the business world know that specialized training and abilities are prerequisites for success in their chosen career.

Spending time after school, Sherman Pittenger checks files, and keeps records up to date in an orderly system.

Captured in a pensive mood, teacher Linda Hankins is contemplating a problem at hand as she reflects the point in discussion.

Sherman Pittenger—Business Education department head, Linda Hankins, Jean Hailman, Beverly Holland, George Jackson, Jacquelyn Melrose, Elsie Rose, John Skene, Luise Smith. With the world of business forever widening, the guidance of these teachers is much needed by Secretarial inclined students.

Industrial Arts Courses Aid Future Work

Industrial arts is a course which provides boys with an opportunity to practice their skills. Boys taking these courses increase their knowledge in a field which may some day become a part of their lives.

Offered to the boys is printing, woodworking, draftsmanship, carpentry, and general metals. The industrial arts department also offers preparation in architectural and mechanical drawing. From this the students gain the fundamentals of building construction.

With the experience gained in these classes, the students become acquainted with this field, and they mold their futures in the industrial world. Industrial arts courses have proven to be a necessity in the curriculum of both college bound students and boys who wish to further their knowledge in this trade.

Lyle Nave—Industrial Arts department head, Norman Caglan, Leslie Hash, Jack Lawson, Richard McLeish, William Walker.

The students taking metal shop are required to give intense attention while working with the milling machine which is used for cutting metals.

Working with an acetylene torch over a large mill is John Lichtenburg. These cutting tools and welding torches are used in many ways.

Students Learn Aspects Of Homemaking

Lois Coy—Home Economics Department head, Doris Cartwright, Glenda Maris. These teachers instruct girls in many homemaking skills.

The Home Economics Department offers girls the opportunity to learn not only the basic skills of cooking and sewing, but to be also instructed in other domestic skills they will need for the future. The basic courses of Clothing and Foods provide students with a background of good homemaking habits. They are instructed in preparing balanced and nutritional meals and in the fundamentals of good dressmaking. Emphasis is also placed on choosing colors, patterns, and a good wardrobe.

Other courses are offered in the Home Economics Department. Home Management introduces interior decorating to the students and they are also prepared for emergencies in the Home Nursing classes which teach basic first aid.

Students of the Home Economics Department learn the aspects of dressmaking. Kathy Shaw, Pam Cawden, Karen Ramanovich plan a project.

Double-period Foods classes enable students to learn the fine art of cooking. Marilyn Bone and Mary Griffo experiment with a new recipe.

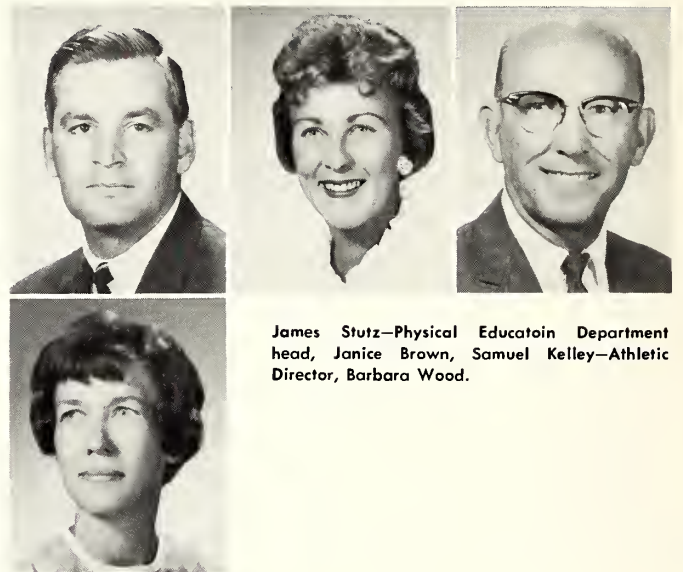

Clothing classes teach many sewing techniques. Miss Coy, department head, instructs senior Sharan Mabey during an advanced class.

Howe Encourages Physical Fitness

In physical education boys learn skills in basketball as well as in many other sports. These boys often participate in the school athletic program.

James Stutz—Physical Education Department head, Janice Brown, Samuel Kelley—Athletic Director, Barbara Wood.

The physical education program at Howe offers diverse subjects for both boys and girls interested in physical fitness. One year of physical education is required; however, advanced classes are popular. Under the leadership of Mrs. Barbara Wood and Miss Janice Brown, girls are able to serve as gym assistants in the freshman classes. The teachers of the boys' physical education classes teach skills in many sports and encourage boys to participate in the school athletic program. The spring track and gym meets highlight the activities of the department under the direction of Mr. James Stutz, newly appointed department head.

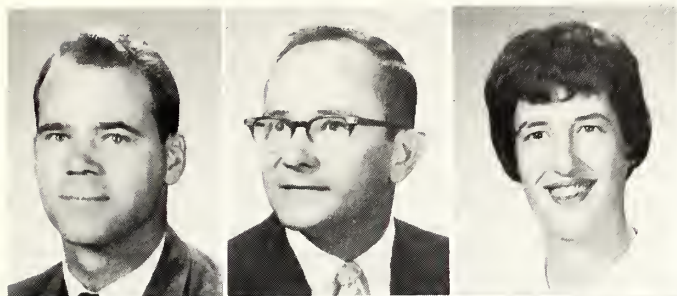

Advanced physical education classes not only instruct girls in volleyball and basketball skills, but also teach the beauty and form of modern dance.

G.A.A. gives girls a chance to participate in more varied activities than school phys. ed. permits. Miss Brown is the sponsor of this group.

Drivers Ed Offers Valuable Training

Robert Piercy, James Paalstan, Margaret Whaley —School Nurse, Robert Wian. Mr. Wian and
Mr. Piercy also teach physical education.

Health, a course required for graduation, helps students to understand fully the aspects of mental and physical health. Miss Janice Brawn, Mr. Robert Wian, and Mr. James Paalstan also teach students the fundamentals of nutrition and diet.

Many upperclassmen students elect Drivers Education. A half-credit course, Drivers Ed. offers students practical experience and also enables them to receive reduced insurance rates. Actual driving experience and observation in the car as well as classroom study help students in driving.

As school nurse, Mrs. Whaley performs a valuable service to the students of Howe. Student assistants such as Sherian Murphy help daily in the clinic.

Senior Jodi Booth receives the keys to her Drivers Ed. car from instructor James Stutz. Students gain practical experience from Drivers Education.

Mr. James Paalstan demonstrates, using the skeleton, in explanation of the human body. Health students also study mental health.

Students Are Awarded For Their Years

Students chosen to serve on the 1966-67 Quiz Team were Bill Kirby, Mark Bradley, David Cardwell, and Dave Johnston. The boys, all seniors, were selected by sponsors Philip Brown and Robert Carr. The coaches also chose Tom Amos and Hal Gustin as alternates.

Each year four students are selected to participate in Howe's Quiz Team. Besides knowledge in several fields, fast recall is also an asset. In the fall tryouts are held with as many as twenty interested students vying for the honor. The coaches—Mr. Brown, a history teacher, and Mr. Carr, a math teacher—choose the four who best fill the qualifications. Two alternates, who are picked at the same time, practice with the regulars. Because of the activities of team members, most practice sessions this year were held at seven-thirty in the morning. Constant practice as a team is necessary to improve the speed and accuracy of answers.

It takes many new questions each year to keep the team supplied with material. Teachers who are interested submit questions relating to their fields. Other sources are text books, encyclopedias, and questions used on the "Exercise In Knowledge" program in past years.

First year Quiz Team member, senior Dave Johnston, participates in a practice session with veterans David Cardwell, Mark Bradley, and Coach Brown.

Of Personal, Academic, And Community Work

Many students who have distinguished themselves at Howe are honored each year for their varied achievements. American Legion Awards are presented to one boy and one girl of the junior class who exemplify good citizenship. Chosen last year for the awards were Bill Kirby and Sherry Eggers. Alyce Payne was last year's recipient of the Altrusa award, based on scholarship and citizenship. This year Alyce was chosen to receive the DAR award after being nominated by the seniors.

The honor of being valedictorian or salutatorian of a class is one coveted by many enterprising young scholars. The academic leaders of the class of 1967 are valedictorian Susie Hine and salutatorian Alyce Payne.

Each summer Howe sends several representatives to Hoosier Girls' State and Hoosier Boys' State, where they learn much about government and make many lasting friends. Boys' State delegates this year were Steve Wieneke, Bill Kirby, Tom Rodo, and Frank Owings. Susie Hine, Dona Runciman, and Linda Kennelly represented Howe at Girls' State.

Last year Sherry Eggers and Bill Kirby were chosen American Legion Good Citizens. Alyce Payne was picked to receive the Altrusa award, and this fall Alyce was presented with the DAR award.

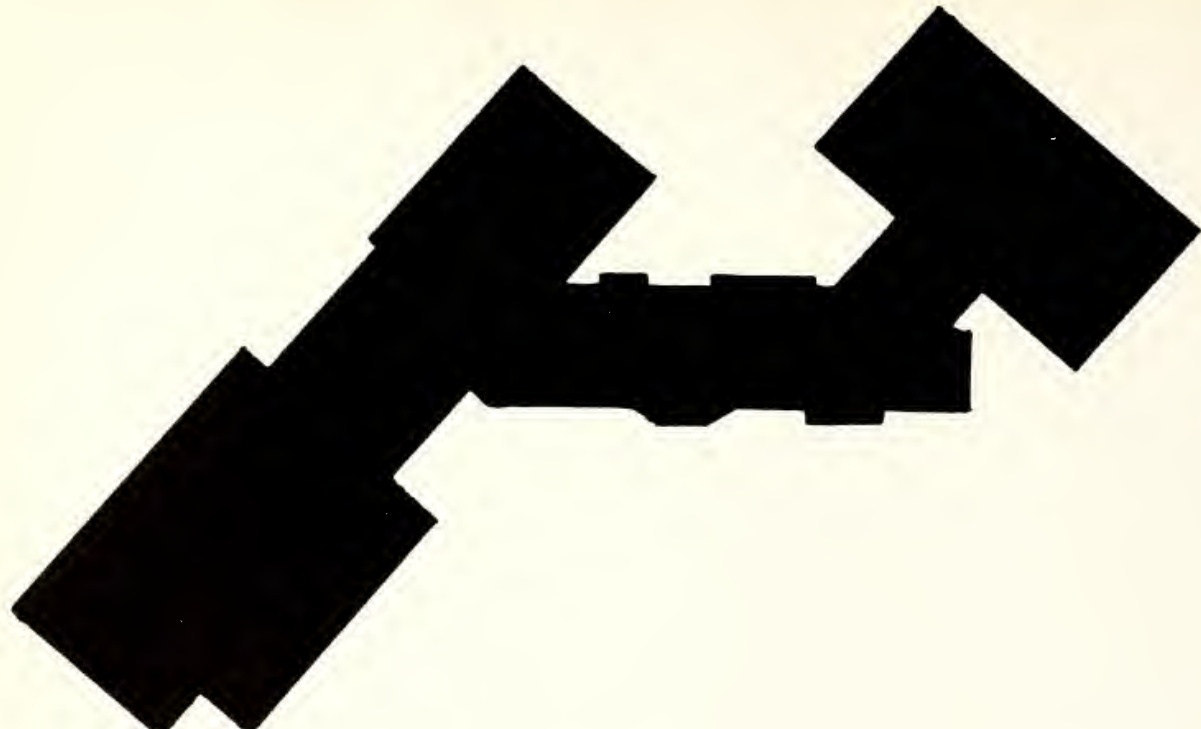

The valedictorian and salutatorian for the class of 1967 are Susan Hine and Alyce Payne. Both girls have near-perfect grade averages.

Seniors who were chosen to attend Hoosier Girls' State and Hoosier Boys' State last summer are Dana Runciman, Susie Hine, Linda Kennelly, and Frank Owings, Bill Kirby, Steve Wieneke, and Tam Rada.

ACTIVITIES

Activities at Howe mean something different to every student. To a freshman, it is joining a club for the first time. Busy upperclassmen find that extra-curricular activities are fun and worthwhile.

During the school year, each group accomplishes something. The Revelers put on several fine plays, the cheerleaders learn new cheers, a yearbook and newspaper are produced, and HI-Y and Tri-Hi-Y attend the Madel United Nations.

Not only do the organizations at Howe help students meet their classmates and teachers, but they also create an opportunity to learn in an atmosphere of fun. Some of the clubs give their members a chance to work on a hobby, while others teach skills. A few clubs are for enjoyment only.

Every pupil should, during his four years at Howe, take advantage of the extensive group of activities.

Hilltopper Sponsors "Brown And Gold"

The oriental theme of the "Brown and Gold" provided good atmosphere for couples who attended the fall dance. HILLTOPPER members worked diligently to assure a successful dance.

"Oriental Autumn" was the theme of the 1966 Brown and Gold Dance. As the first event of the Howe social season, this HILLTOPPER-sponsored semi-formal dance is enjoyed by more Howe students than any other dance of the entire school year. The candidates for Brown Boy and Golden Girl are introduced to the student body at the annual publications assembly held in September. The nominees—four juniors and four seniors—are then voted on by the students who purchase HILLTOPPER-TOWER subscriptions and the lucky couple is announced during intermission at the dance. Mr. Bob Carnal, Howe dean of boys, crowned the royalty. The couple—Bob Evans and Nancy Grindel—then led everyone in the first dance following the mid-evening crowning ceremonies.

Mr. Carnal crowns Nancy Grindel Golden Girl. She reigned with Brown Boy Bob Evans over the dance.

And "Turn-About-Twirl" Dances

The "Turn-About Twirl" is one of the most anticipated Howe dances. Put on by the yearbook staff each year as a fund-raising project, it gives the girls a chance to invite out their favorite guys. Planning and getting ready for this dance was the first duty of the newly-chosen 1967 HILLTOPPER staff.

"Lollipops and Rases" was the theme of the 1966 Turn-About Twirl. This theme was nicely carried out in the decorations and refreshments. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of "Mr. Tapper". Steve West won this honor. The other candidates were Jack Martin, senior; Bob Evans and Mike Russell, juniors; Nael Bewley and Steve Deane from the sophomore class; and Brent Kern and Andy Wysang represented the freshmen. The dance was held in the cafeteria.

Senior Lana Alexander serves punch to Dave Miller at the "Turn-About Twirl". All girls look forward to this event.

All Howe students enjoy dancing to the music of the "Jesters", a well-known band which plays for many school dances.

1966 graduate Steve West was crowned "Mr. Topper" at the Turn-About Twirl, a dance which the HILLTOPPER sponsors each spring. He enjoys the "king's" dance with Jan Miller.

Queens Spotlight All Seasons

The Sesquicentennial queen, senior Judy Dye, reigned over Howe's own Sesquicentennial pageant in the spring.

Junior Paulette Throckmorton was elected by the junior class to reign over Violet Hill during the pageant.

Howe's observation of the Indiana Sesquicentennial celebration was presented as a pageant in the Howe Stadium. It began with a procession led by Miss Janet Crockett, one of the State Sesquicentennial Princesses and a student teacher at Howe. The Choir, Concert Club, and Boys Chorus sang

"The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "On the Banks of the Wabash" and other fitting selections as various school clubs and groups presented scenes representing different times in the history of Indiana. The Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y had a torch light parade. The Future Teachers Club also participated.

To many Howeites spring means the return of the Violet Queen to Violet Hill, where Howe High School now stands. The junior class nominated five girls to take part in the festivities of the Sesquicentennial Pageant as Violet Queen candidates. Linda Lepper, Laurie Detamore, Queen Paulette Throckmorton, Sherry Eggers, and Linda McAuley made up the court. The choir sang "Hail to the Queen of the Violets" to the royalty.

At Howe's Festive Occasions

Howe's 1966 Football Jamboree Queen Candidates were Vickie Hicks, Beth Thampson, Jean Adams, Linda Johnson, Betty Anderson, and Cindy Alexander. Sophomore Linda Johnson was elected queen.

The 1966 football season started at the Butler Bowl with the annual Football Jamboree. Our Jamboree Queen was Linda Johnson. She was presented by Mr. Wion, Howe's football coach as the team ran down the field.

Howe's Football Homecoming Queen was crowned between the halves of the Arlington game on October 14. Miss Stephanie Eubank was elected by the student body to reign over it. She was crowned by Mr. Stirling and given a necklace by the treasurer of the Student Council, Dennis Foley. Both queens helped to highlight Howe's football.

The 1966 Football Queen Candidates and escorts were Ralph Merkle, Debbie Maudlin, Alan Iakin, Sue Slayton, Frank Lemons, Debbie Sherron, Alvin

Festivities Brighten Winter Months

Mr. Ruschhaupt received the honor of crowning Howe's Basketball Homecoming Queen, senior Barbara Guhl, at half-time ceremonies.

Howe's only after-school dance of the social season was held December 13, 1966, in the cafeteria. Sponsored by the Student Council and the Girls' Athletic Association, the students chose the king from eight candidates. This year's candidates were seniors John Korbly and Mike Weber, juniors Steve Deane and Jeff Martin, sophomores Dave Edens and Andy Wyson, and freshmen Tom Morendt and Jerry Ward. King John Korbly was crowned at the dance.

December 3 was the date set for Howe's Basketball Homecoming. During half-time ceremonies at the Franklin game, Senior Barboro Guhl was crowned queen by Mr. Ruschhaupt and was given a necklace by the Student Council.

1967 Winter Homecoming Candidates—Nancy Cross, Barboro Guhl, Corlo Klink, Lito Blair, Carol Ross, Syndie Cherry, and Susie Perkins.

Senior John Korbly receives a kiss from Myro Johnson in congratulation of his being crowned king of the Winter Wonderland Dance.

The Senior Class elected Sylvia Estrate to represent Howe as our Princess of Light in the 1966 Christmas parade downtown. Linda Lepper and Linda Perdue were also nominated by their classmates for this honor. Sylvia attended a luncheon where a Queen of Light was selected from among candidates from various schools. The Queen and her princesses rode on a float in the procession.

Miss Sherry Eggers, now an Honorary Major in the R.O.T.C., reigned over the Annual Military Ball. The other sponsors, Sue Amick, Dana Runciman, Charlotte Bassett, Anita Waad, and Joyce Brandt comprised her court. "Spirit of '76" was the theme of the ball. Red, white, and blue decorations with miniature flags as centerpieces helped to carry out the theme. A giant flag of paper rases was hand-made by all the cadets and sponsors.

Pert Seniors Linda Lepper, Linda Perdue, and Sylvia Estrate were candidates for Princess of Light. Sylvia was elected by her class to reign.

Plan Howe's Achievements And Goals

Howe's Student Council works diligently throughout the year to promote school activities and spirit. Each homeroom elects a representative and an alternate to participate in the Student Council. During the year they sponsor such projects as the Student Talent Assembly in January. Tryouts are scheduled two weeks before the assembly and a panel of judges selects the best acts to perform in the show. The Student Council also sponsors an annual Senior-Faculty game, traffic safety campaign, and the clean-up campaign. They also spend many valuable hours decorating the school with Christmas symbols. The active Student Council also are in charge of sock hops after the games. Our Student Council is very enthusiastic and strives for the betterment of the school's future.

President Ric Carbin and Mrs. Loew discuss plans for the next student council meeting. Mrs. Loew and Mr. Ruschhaupt are co-sponsors.

As chairman of the sectional derby committee, Noel Bewley attempts to put the hats in window so the students can decide which one they want.

A very popular club open to junior and senior girls is Tri-Hi-Y. They strive to create, maintain, and extend Christian character. Members are initiated in October and new officers are chosen in the spring. This year's officers are Alyce Payne, president; Sue Pettee, vice-president; Pat Erickson, secretary; Carol Cottom, treasurer; Lynn Anderson, chaplain; and Bobbie Georgia, historian. Their meetings consist of guest speakers including student teachers, Howe pupils, and ministers.

The activities include swimming parties at the Eastside Y.M.C.A. to which all look forward. One of the most exciting Tri-Hi-Y activities is the model U.N. Interested members of the Tri-Hi-Y in Marion County annually participate in the model U.N. They portray the roles of representatives of various nations. The Tri-Hi-Y feels that its duty is to help train girls for possible leadership in the future. The sponsor of Tri-Hi-Y is Miss Mary McLane. She manages to help the girls with problems they might have, and also helps the officers coordinate Tri-Hi-Y activities and programs throughout the year.

Stella Whiteyes was a guest speaker at a Tri-Hi-Y meeting. She told about her Indian background and culture.

Hi-Y Promotes Civic Interest At Howe

Hi-Y is a club for freshman, sophomore, junior and senior boys. It is known as an active club at Howe. The club was organized with the idea of bettering the community.

Among other activities, each spring, Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y students from throughout Marion County high schools participate in the Madel United Nations at the Statehouse. They spend several days and nights there, discussing issues and debating different topics.

To fill the offices of Hi-Y are Mike Russell—pres., Gene Smith—vice-pres., John Easterday—secretary, Phil Baumgardt—treasurer, and Jay O'Sullivan—chaplain.

The Selafra Club is for freshman girls only. The club helps freshmen make friends and become acquainted with the school. The Selafra members elected Laura Reasaner, president, Pam Evans, vice-president, and Nancy Cline, secretary-treasurer to preside over their meetings. Selafra stands for SERVICE, LOYALTY, and FRIENDSHIP, which all girls need. Miss Maris is the new sponsor of the new club, although she is also well known to Howe students as a teacher. Selafra meets every other Tuesday at 3:30 to discuss recent events at Howe. Selofra usually presents a fashion show and a welcoming party for the new 9B's. Selafra is a very worthwhile club for interested freshman girls. Selofra lends a helping hand in adjusting to high school life and the many problems that are involved. Selafra is a firm foundation for future years at Howe. Such a club is very valuable in acquainting freshman girls with many of their many classmates.

NHS Encourages Student Scholarship

Scholars at Howe are honored in numerous ways. Perhaps the most well-known of means of recognizing scholastic achievement is the National Honor Society. This organization not only encourages high grades but also leadership and character. Each spring outstanding juniors and seniors are chosen on a tap day. In order to be "tapped" one must maintain a six point grade average. A junior must be in the top ten percent of his class to be eligible and the upper fifteen per cent for a senior. Before being formally initiated into this honorary, members are entitled to wear arm bands, signifying their acceptance into the National Honor Society. Often NHS members offer valuable assistance when requested by counselors to tutor underclassmen.

As in any organization, officers are elected to preside over meetings. This year the President of NHS is Ed Keppler. The Vice-President is Jeff Sirmin and the Secretary-treasurer is Ann Wuster. Mr. Bob Cornol is faculty sponsor for NHS.

Steve Wieneke helps Laurie Detomere understand a lab experiment. Laurie and Steve are both seniors and members of National Honor Society.

Quill And Scroll: Aspiring Journalists

Each May, members of the publications staffs showing creative talent and writing ability are chosen for Howe's journalism honorary, Quill and Scroll. Quill and Scroll is an international organization founded in 1926 and having more than 7500 chapters throughout the country. The club was originally initiated to encourage the would-be writer and to reward the student for interest and participation in journalism.

Every year the Howe chapter of Quill and Scroll elects officers to preside over its meetings. This year the leaders are Carol Cottom, Sherry Eggers, Candee Coulter, and Tom Roda. They hold the offices of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer respectively.

Howe's Tower And News Bureau Inform

Fifty students are responsible for the production of the bi-weekly publication, The Howe Tower, and for getting school news into city and community papers and on radio and television. Getting information, writing stories, proof-reading copy, contacting advertisers, planning pages, and distributing papers are jobs performed by the staffs involved in these extra-curricular activities.

Howeites may elect the one-semester journalism course taught by Mrs. Morcio Blair, but this course is not a prerequisite for staff membership.

Tryouts are held each spring for the next year's staffs. These are evolved by the Editorial Board composed of the Editor-in-chief, the Managing Editor, the Page Editors, and Mrs. Patricia Alexander, Director of Publications. New staffs are introduced at the Publications Banquet in May.

Judy Frech arranges and pastes the news stories on a model page. All model pages are sent to the printers for trial, and final printing.

The director of the Howe Tower, Mrs. Patricia Alexander, advises Bobbie Georgia, editor of page one, in arranging the bi-weekly newspaper.

Karen Perryman types a story she has just written and must have in before the next deadline. Typing is a necessary part of the news routine.

Alyce Payne, Tower editor, looks through some files before planning the next paper. She supervises much of the work as well as write editorials.

Susie Hine helps others meet their deadline by typing their captions, copy blocks and headlines. Susie completed her job early in the year as Business Manager.

The Hilltopper Staff Strives For An

Index Editors, John DeBoo and Dione DeCoito, spend much time organizing the index. They have to be sure everyone pictured is listed.

The 1967 Hilltopper staff was chosen last spring by advisor Mr. Donald Austin. Their first task was to plan the annual Turn-about Twirl.

Summer found several staff members working to put out one of the best yearbooks ever. To help them, Mark Bradley, Larry Rainey, and Tom Roda went to a yearbook workshop at Kent State University. Carol Cottom went to Michigan State University for another workshop. Also during the summer Tam Rada, Carol Cottom, Larry Rainey, and Mr. Austin went to Hannibal, Missouri, to see the American Yearbook Company. While there, they received many ideas on planning a yearbook. At the end of the summer, the staff got together at Ellenburger Park for a picnic.

When school started in the fall, the Hilltopper staff started working—trying to make deadlines, selling yearbooks, and planning the Brawn and Gold Dance.

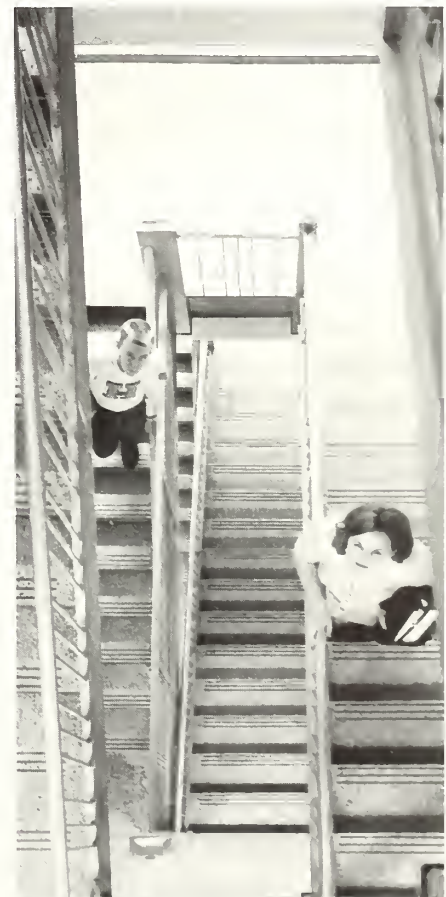

The members of the Hilltopper staff work hard to meet every deadline. Planning page layouts, writing copy, and cropping pictures are all a part of the job of the staff. Associate Editor Carol Cottom and Senior Editor Lana Alexander finish two pages in meeting the important deadline.

Photographers And Publishers Aid Staff

Without the assistance of two cooperating businesses, the job of the HILLTOPPER staff would be almost impossible. The American Yearbook Company, Hannibal, Missouri, and Tower Studios, 5448 E. Washington, Indianapolis, aid the HILLTOPPER in production and photography. American, the publisher, not only prints the book, but aids with helpful advice and editing of the pages before the final copies are printed. Tower, a new member of the HILLTOPPER family, assists in photography when needed. They also serve as the official photographer for the school and senior portrait and underclassman photographers. Mr. Bill Wright of American is Howe's company representative and frequently visits the HILLTOPPER office in an attempt to aid the staff and Mr. Austin. Mr. Jim Shields, owner and manager of Tower Studios, along with his capable assistant Don McLaughlin, do an excellent job in assisting the yearbook.

Mr. William Wright, HILLTOPPER's American Yearbook representative, makes a call at Howe to talk over yearbook business with Mr. Austin.

Don McLoughlin, photographer for Tower Studios, not only takes senior portraits, but also informal shots to assist the HILLTOPPER.

The American Yearbook Company publishes the Howe yearbook in their Hannibal, Missouri, plant, one of four across the country.

Pen Points, Howe's literary magazine, is strictly a student endeavor. Its editor is a student, and all the poems, themes, and sonnets which appear in Pen Points are written by English students. Members of the staff are aided by the English teachers, who select student material which in their opinions is worthy of a place in Pen Points.

Claire Arbogast, a capable junior, is this year's editor of Pen Points. Mr. Hal Tobin is again sponsoring the magazine. Although the staff is made up mostly of seniors, there are other underclassmen besides Claire. Each staff member is responsible for collecting a certain amount of a variety of types of writing from each class.

Before being sold, finished copies of Pen Points are checked one last time by Claire Arbogast, editor; Mr. Tobin, sponsor; and Lucetta Bayd.

As the editor of Pen Points, Claire is responsible for selecting and revising the material used and calling staff meetings.

Fourth Production—"The Music Man"—

"Seventy-six trombones led the big parade" and they marched right into the hearts of the entire audience during the Music Department's presentation of "The Music Man" this year. The capacity audience applauded enthusiastically for this, the fourth annual musical extravaganza, and went away afterwards humming tunes from the show.

Registering surprise as she learns some new facts about "Professor" Hill's background is Marian Paroo, the town librarian played by Ann Pinney.

Joining Marian in a song as the show happily closes are Professor Hill and his best friend, Morcellus Washburn.

This year the Howe Music Department chalked up another success to its rapidly growing list of musicals with its presentation of "The Music Man". The curtains parted on April 28th and 29th and the show began by introducing the audience to the fast-talking traveling salesman, Professor Harold Hill. As a result of a challenge from an irate fellow salesman, Harold entered the town of River City, Iowa, confident that he could sell the townsfolk a Boys' Band, instruments, uniforms and all, even though he didn't know a note of music from another. Upon arriving, he condemned the town's new pool table and stated that only with a Boys' Band would the town "get out of the serious trouble it's in." He convinced the people and soon all those with young boys invested in the band. While awaiting the arrival of the instruments and uniforms, Harold met and fell in love with the town's music teacher and librarian, Marian Paroo. Marian's mother and younger brother, Winthrop, were also great friends of the Professor's and when Harold was exposed as a fraud, the entire Paroo family courageously defended him. However, unless the Professor could conduct the newly-formed band, he was to be run out of town. But the band played a barely recognizable "Minuet in G" to the praise of the townspeople. The curtains closed then on the grateful little town of River City and the happy young couple, Harold and Marian.

Music Groups Entertain School, Community

Howe has four different singing ensembles that perform at various functions around Indianapolis. The Girl's Ensemble has ten girls in it. These girls, under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins, practice every day. The girls performed at the P. R. V., Talent Assembly, and various other places during the 1966-1967 school year.

Mr. Robert Bramblett is the director of the Boy's Octet. These boys sing many places with the girls.

Practicing every morning before school, the Howe Madrigal Singers work hard to perfect their songs. Mr. Bramblett also directs this singing ensemble. The Madrigals do all of their singing without accompaniment.

The Howe Choir, also directed by Mr. Watkins, is the biggest of the performing vocal groups at Howe. The members of the choir sing many different places during the year. The choir furnishes all of the singing parts for the musical.

All of the Howe singing ensembles help to brighten the spirits of Irvington residents with their singing.

One of the highlights of the year was their performance for the Indiana Music Educators Association Conference in November. They also spend many weeks in preparation for the annual musical production and for the Band and Orchestra Concert which takes place each spring. The orchestra participates in the Christmas Program and provides the music for both the Senior and Revelers' plays. They play for the P.T.A. and each year present a Pops Concert on the Eastgate Mall. This group's excellence adds immensely to the fine quality of the Music Department.

Mary Ann Tilford, Ann Wuster, David Thomas, and Ann Pinney have formed a quartet which performs for various clubs and musical organizations.

Members of the P.R.V. are singing their opening chorus of "California, Here I Came." Energetic and hard working teenagers made the P.R.V. a success. "Disneyland" was the theme of this years P.R.V. which imitated the real Disneyland in song and dance.

The theme for the 1966 Pleasant Run Variety Show was "Disneyland". Melissa Scatt and Mark Bradley were the Mistress and Master of Ceremonies. The great variety of acts were grouped to represent the various aspects of Disneyland. Included in Mainstreet U.S.A. was an act of early America which even had a 1901 Oldsmobile and a Barber Shop Quartet. Songs such as "Little Annie Rooney", "Bicycle Built for Two", and the "Trolley Song" added to Mainstreet.

Frontierland included a Salaan Can-Can number as well as ather action in the old West. "When You Wish Upon A Star", "Somewhere Over the Rainbaw", and out-of-this-world ballet numbers helped make Tamarrowland, while Adventureland consisted of "Far Away Places", a Hawaiian War Dance, a Leopard Dance, and one to the sounds of "Spanish Flea". Fantasyland concluded the P.R.V. shaw.

—Larry Rainey, William Herdrich, Thomas Hamill, Bill Haugh, Jerry Nelson, Tam Roda. Members of National Forensic League strive to accumulate points in debates and speeches at school and inter-school meets.

For the student with a special interest in English, several activities are offered. These are the National Forensic League, the Debate Club, and the Speech Team. The National Forensic League, NFL, is an honorary organization for those excelling in English or its tributaries. President Lyndon B. Johnson is a member of this organization.

One of the branches of the National Forensic League is the Debate Club. Its argumentative members meet twice a month under the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Steven Briggs.

Like the Debate Club, the Speech Team is also a member of the NFL. The Speech Team participates in speech meets around the city. Events included at these meets are: poetry reading, dramatic interpretation, humorous interpretation, original oratory, debate, boys and girls extemporaneous speaking, radio announcing, and oratorical interpretation. These activities are judged on originality and the method in which they are presented to the group.

Tom Amos expertly delivers a speech as all students eventually do. Speech classes insure easiness and confidence in needed public speaking.

And Group Honors

Tom Hamill and Debbie Harris discuss matters of world importance in debate class. Foreign Aid was discussed quite a lot this year in debates.

Kathy Hinsch, who is vice-president of NFL, is also active in stage productions. Besides being in speech meets, she can be found backstage.

One of Howe's most popular publications is the science newspaper Atom Dust. One of the first of its kind in the nation, it was initiated on the Howe campus in 1947 and has been going strong for 18 years. Recently, due to the interest in science, Atom Dust has become a weekly publication. Its staff includes members from every type of science class.

The Subset Club, created especially for freshman algebra students, may well influence its members to continue their education in mathematics. A special advantage is gained by joining the subset club because its program is designed to cover areas not included in normal class time. The field of recreational mathematics is also explored.

The Latin Club is one of the oldest and largest clubs at Howe. The present membership is fifty-three. The Latin Club is also an official chapter of the Indiana State and the National Junior Classical League—the largest Classical organization in the world. The club's activities include Latin ceremonies and rituals, which contribute to enriched understanding of Classical culture by the Latin students.

For the third consecutive year the Nationalists swept the Howe elections to defeat their rivals, the Federalists. The Mack election is a yearly activity that exposes the student body to certain aspects of a political campaign. The election, basically, is not unlike the legal state elections held today. The two main parties are represented, of course, by the "Nats" and the "Feds". Candidates for both parties are chosen at the state convention and the candidates are elected to office by secret ballot cast by all members of U.S. History, Government, and Economics. The victorious "Nats" this year were Mark Bradley, Dave Miller, Randy Reinhardt, Jeff Sirmin, Martha Collins, Susie Hine, and Valerie Sipole to name a few.

The Federalist and Nationalist parties were steered to victory (or victory, as the case may be) by state chairmen Bill Kirby, Nationalist and Larry Rainey, Federalist.

Theresa McNeil gains valuable experience as she votes for her favorite party. Although she looks puzzled, her single vote counts. Students learn during the election that voting is a privilege.

Pam Fuehrer and Mike Russell register with the clerks before they cast their votes on Howe's Mack Election day, 1966.

HISTORY CLUB: FRONT ROW—Rito Robbins, Debbie Kuh, Tonyo Thompson, Linda Pickens, Kathleen Denny. BACK ROW—William Herdrich, Tom Amos, Jeff Kugle, Zoe Ellen Seel, Linda Smith.

Every week on Thursdays, the Chess Club members meet and plan their strategy for future matches. The Chess Club challenges and is challenged by other schools throughout the city. The members of this thought provoking club elected Doug Mosimon for their president, Jeff Kugle vice-president, and Tom Amos secretary-treasurer. This is the first year for the State Chess Tournament. At last year's Arlington Invitational, Howe's team placed 2nd. The five man winning varsity team of last year returned this year and the prospects for winning the State Championship are high.

The History Club is especially for people who are interested in how our country has grown to its importance in the world today. The members of this club can make a closer study of the subjects they are most interested in. They also give reports on their favorite subjects. Together, the members plan and prepare a project for the Freedom Foundation. This year, the members planned and made a trip to the Indiana General Assembly where they watched the proceedings of our state legislature. Mr. Finkbiner, a recent addition to the Howe staff, is the new sponsor of this club.

Future Nurses of America, sponsored by Mrs. Whaley, Howe's school nurse, was created especially for girls who intend to devote their career to nursing. In order to further their viewpoint in the field of practical nursing, this club has made several visits to local hospitals. Future nurses often invite guest speakers to discuss various aspects of public health, or other related subjects.

A similar organization is the Red Cross Club, sponsored by Miss Fitzpatrick. One of the club's activities is giving assistance to underprivileged and needy families. Among the club's projects is a chest of necessities for over-seas orphans.

The clinic assistants are trained in the use of simple first aid equipment. Here a house cleaning job is taking place in the medicine cabinet.

Extra-Curriculars Plan The Future

The Howe Home Economics Club has been in existence for 23 years. This club has a three-fold purpose: social events such as parties, education, speakers, service and projects around school. The social events of the Home Ec. Club includes a Christmas Party, two welcome parties, and a party for the seniors. Education takes on with speakers talking on beauty, fashion, and different food ideas. The club also has school projects.

The Future Teachers of America seeks to enable its members to study and identify qualities, traits, and aptitudes which are basic or related to successful teaching. They acquire an understanding of the history and development of our public schools and an appreciation of the contributions they have made to our democratic free society. They participate in pre-vocational activities which are both exploratory and developmental in nature.

The creed of the Future Business Leaders of America states that the future of America depends on the mutual understanding and co-operation of business, industry, labor, the home, the church, the school, and of the peoples of our own and other lands. First, Future Business Leaders must develop competent and aggressive leadership. Secondly, they develop character and a sense of responsibility so that they might realize the full scope of their talents. Thirdly, Future Business Leaders must apply themselves in utilizing their abilities.

In order to encourage Howe students to join the FBLA, businesslike methods are employed. The poster held by Mrs. Hankins illustrates this.

Mrs. Hankins, sponsor of the FBLA chapter at Howe, Sally Powell, and Sharon Mabee listen attentively as an FBLA member leads a discussion.

The Girls Athletic Association is mainly for girls with an ability of gymnastic quality. They meet every week to play volleyball, kickball, and to practice other athletic events. They sponsor a track and gym meet in which they lively participate. They are also co-sponsors of the Winter Wonderland Dance of which all Howeites look forward.

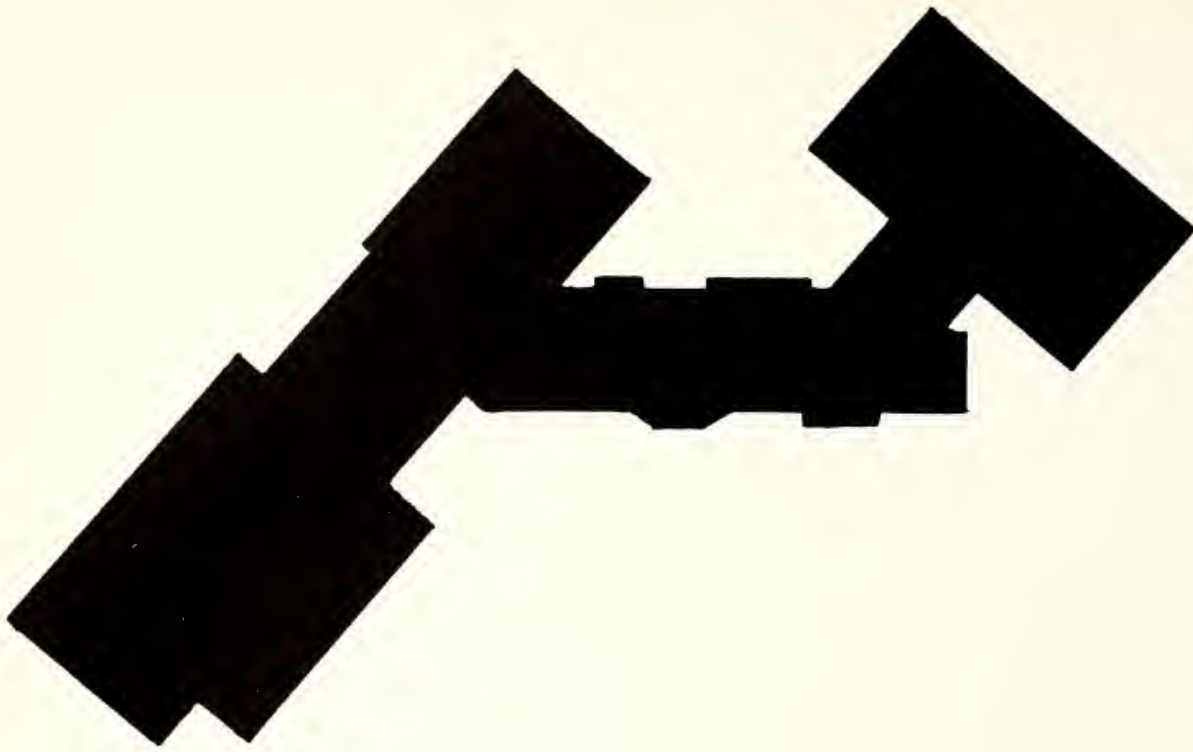

The Girls Drill Team is an orderly group which is an attractive addition to many of our football and basketball games. Lynn Anderson, the team's captain, works with Mrs. Mercer, the sponsor, in making the Drill Team a success. The Drill Team participates in the 500 and the Veteran's Day parades and also at Federal Inspection in May.

For the Christmas parade the girls made their own costumes of bright red and green to represent Santa's elves.

ATHLETICS

We present the athletic faculty: William Wolker, Robert Piercy, Roger Schroder, James Stutz, Robert Wion and Sam Kelley who lead the "Mighty Hornets" in all their sporting pursuits. To these men go the credit for helping our boys realize the value of clean living and wholesome competition, the enjoyment of victory, and the necessity of patience and cooperation in association with others.

In the autumn, football teams battle for victory. The annual homecoming game highlights this season. The winter season brings enthusiastic basketball fans to games. The excitement shows that Howe really has spirit.

Spring sees the beginning of track and baseball competition. Varsity boys struggle for the top as do underclassmen.

Hot off to the heroes of '67 teams! May their fine spirit be an inspiration to all the boys of future teams.

The Varsity Cheerleaders are Myra Jahnsen, Linda Foster, Martha Collins, Bonnie Dentler, Karen Gald and Sue Thomas, who boost our team's spirit.

Sue Thomas, one of the varsity cheerleaders, won the all-city cheerleading from Hawe. Her enthusiasm contributes to the team's spirit.

Cheerleaders Instill School Fervor

Howe's cheerleaders are a valuable asset to the team's spirit. Besides leading cheers at games and pep sessions, they perform tasks in promoting school spirit.

Backing the cheerleaders at the varsity home games are the pep band and the cheerblock. The cheerblock meets after school with cheerleaders to learn routines and yells.

There are three groups of cheerleaders, the varsity, the reserve, and the freshmen. The cheerleaders are chosen according to appearance, ability, and personality.

In addition to the cheerleaders is the Howe Hornet, Marilyn Duhammel, who executes her tumbling act with the cheerleaders; this is a spectacular showing.

Behind all the groups is Mrs. Barbara Wood. Many of her hours are used in helping the girls with their cheers and routines, and in encouraging all Howe students to come and yell for all their fine teams.

The Freshman Cheerleaders are Mary Ring, Sherry Thomas, Jo Ellen Legg, Betty Rennard, Sue Perkins and Debbie Maudlin spark the team's morale.

The Reserve Cheerleaders are Kathy Patrick, Lita Blair, Linda Johnson, Karen Ackerman, Marilyn Durhammel, and Carole Carnelius.

Presiding at all home games is our cheerblock. They are composed of the letterman and a group of spirited girls. The cheerleaders keep the cheerblock after school and teach them the yells. They spend many valuable hours yelling and adding enthusiasm to the spectators' spirit, and boosting the team's morale.

Lettermen And Cheerblock Boost Spirit

Possibly, the Lettermen are the most select group at Howe. Unlike nearly all of the other after-school organizations, a rather special requirement is needed for admission. To be eligible to join the Lettermen, of course, one must have earned his letter in sports. However, representing Howe in sports is not the only service this club renders. These boys are valuable assistants at ball games, holding the ropes and parking cars. Also, this year for the first time in Howe History the Lettermen formed their own cheerblock, a welcome addition of vitality and volume. The lettermen are a beneficial part of Howe.

1966 Grid Team Has

Cooch Robert "Smokey" Wion, a thirteen-year veteran of high school football coaching, brought a new era in football to Howe. Cooch Wion had state champion teams in Ohio, and was regarded as a first-rate coach. Hornet fans would agree, as Cooch Wion's undying spirit gave new football enthusiasm not only to the team but to all Howe fans as well.

Highlighting a 7-3 season were the victory over orchivrol Tech and homecoming win over Arlington. The Hornet grid team avenged last year's defeats to Northwest and Tech, but lost to highly-rated Scecino and Stote Chomp Woshington. Manual remains the only team to boost a victory over Howe the last two years in a row.

Willie Lenzy gains several yards before being brought down by a flying Titan. In this game, Howe beat Tech for the first time in the seven years.

In the Northwest game, Tim Parcel reaches for a pass. Tim, a junior, was a very valuable man on this year's team. Howe downed the Pioneers, 27-7.

Bright Future For Howe Grid Teams

Reserve and Freshman football at Howe scored comparatively successful seasons this year, although not always indicated on the scorebaard. Both coaches, David Stewart, reserves, and Rabert Piercy, freshmen, were satisfied with their teams and both feel that Howe's immediate faatball future will be a bright ane; caach Robert Wion agreed.

The reserves, with their first winning season in many years, completed the year with a 5-4-1 recard. Caach Stewart, a farmer Howe grid star, was content with the recard, considering that the reserve roster is constantly fluctuating in harmany with the varsity. The reserves and their caach are to be congratulated an their excellent achievement.

Caach Piercy, with the aid af Caach Harrison Richardsan, found the freshmen to be quite enthusiastic and very willing ta wark; but they couldn't quite put things together well enough ta came up with the winners. Mr. Piercy complimented the team on their fine wark and challenged the boys ta cantinue their high spirit and determination.

In his first year of coaching ot Howe, Cooch Wion strengthened a struggling Howe team to equl the best record in seven years.

Frank Crassland (51) prepares to snap the ball to the punter in this fourth down play. The big center was named to the All-City team.

Two Hornets Make All-City Team

Coach "Smokey" Wian's team had a very successful year in more ways than one. In addition to the satisfaction of having a winning season, several members of the team won individual awards for superior play and exceptional spirit.

Willie Lenzy, senior quarterback, won three special awards. Willie was co-captain, most valuable player, and won a spot on the All-City team. Frank Crassland, 210 pound center, was the other co-captain and also was named to the All-City team. Freshman fullback Tom Marendt won the Best Mental Attitude Award, and was also named the most valuable defensive player. Hawe fans are proud of these outstanding players.

The face of Tam Marendt reflects the determination that won him the Best Mental Attitude Award. Tam, a freshman, played varsity ball this year.

Willie "Deke" Lenzy, one of our best athletes, is a three-year veteran at the quarterback position. Willie won several awards for his fine play.

Walker's Harriers Take Regional Meet

Coach Bill Walker's second year as the Howe Cross-Country coach was a very successful one, indeed. The team compiled a very impressive 11-1 season record. Muncie Burris was the only team to defeat the Hornets in a dual meet. The harriers also placed high in several other meets. Howe came in second in the Goshen Invitational, first in a Louisville, Kentucky, invitational, and first in the Howe invitational. Washington and Arlington beat out Howe in the City and Sectional meets, with the Hornets finishing third in both contests. But Walker's determined runners avenged those defeats and won the Regional. The next week they defeated all other regional winners and came in fourth in the State meet.

Paul Morrison, two-mile track star, was also a leader of the Cross-Country team. The hard-running senior received the Ray Bowman Award. Other seniors who led the Hornets were Don Brown, Henry VanMaaren, and Barry Shaw.

Frosh And Reserve Harriers Place 3rd In

Howe harriers, in the center of this picture, show determination at the start of the Howe Invitational meet held at Christian Park. Their determination paid off, as the Howe team beat out thirteen other teams to win the Invitational meet held on October 4.

It seems that in future years, Howe's cross-country teams will continue to be top competitors whenever meets are held. The fine performances of the reserve and freshman teams show that there are many fine underclassmen runners.

Student teacher and Howe alumnus Steve Sachs worked with the reserve team, and Mr. Dick Patterson of the Science department, who was also a Howe athlete, coached the freshman squad. The boys showed real potential as they worked each day on their practice sprints. Their hard work was well rewarded; both teams took third place in their respective categories in the City Meet, and each team had a fine season of building for future years.

Veteran runner Henry VanMaaren strains at the end of a practice sprint. Hard work paid off, as Henry was a top contender in every meet.

Hardwood Action Is In The Spotlight

Coach Jim Stutz, last year's Marian County Coach of the Year, called many time-outs at crucial moments to consult with the team. His hard work with the Harnets gave Howe a successful season.

Willie Lenzy, Howe athletics' "Mr. Cool", fakes his way around two Arlington players. Howe "coaled" its way to a 78-54 victory.

Senior Dave Miller was the only returning starter this year. He was a valuable leader of the team.

As Hornets Have Another Winning Year

Every year in late November, the singularly Hoosier institution of "hordwood hysterio" begins. The high school basketball season is in the spotlight for four months, bringing hoppiness to some, tears to others, and thrills and excitement to everyone; Howe is not excluded from this hoppy modness.

The Hornet netmen trditionally open their season on Thanksgiving Eve with o gome with Woshington. This year, the Howe team looked surprisingly good in the first half, but fell behind in the final period. But the spunky Hornets bounced back and enjoyed o seven-gome winning streak, including o thrilling five-point win over o strong Shelbyville team.

Then the Hornets lost four of their next five games. These losses, however, were to Southport, Tech, and Richmond, oll of whom won their sectionols. After losing to Tech in the City Tourney, Howe come on strong, winning five stroight games. One of these was o grotifying victory over Beech Grove, who eliminated Howe from the Stote Tourney last year.

The lost three games were somewhat disappointing. A surprising Worren Centrol team downed the Hornets by 17 points, and Lebonon won o heortbreaker from Howe. In the Sectionols, Howe faced the City Chomp Shortridge team in the first gome. The powerful Blue Devils swomped the Hornets on their way to the Sectionol Chomptionship.

Although Howe's 15-8 record is the slimmest in four years, Hornet fons can be proud of the excellent work done by the team os they gove their oll to "Hoosier Hysterio."

"Hands up!" is apparent as the Harnets fight far the possession of the ball. This play added to the total of 70 points against Lawrence's 66.

Watch the ball! Dave Miller, Fred Durham, and Gene Halstein, in addition to the Shelbyville team, eye the ball in anticipation of a rebound.

Varsity Basketball Rebuilding

Following up the shot with a rebound is one of the defenses against a miss. Gene Halstein and Cecil Cook position themselves for the ball.

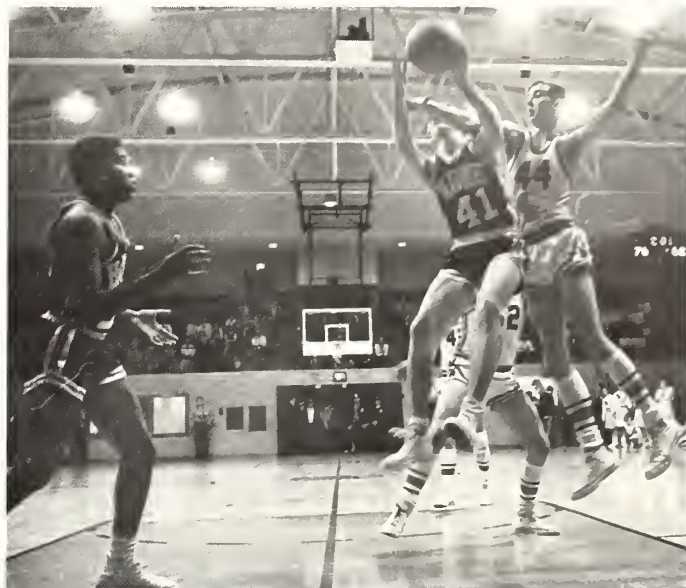

Two outstanding players of this year's basketball team were Cecil Cook and Willie Lenzy (right). Willie was a returning letterman while Cecil showed great improvement in moving up to the varsity team.

Willie Lenzy looks on closely as Student Trainer Tom Roda tapes Larry Pritchard's ankle. Strong ankles are a must in basketball.

Howe's six-three forward Gene Holstein pulls down a rebound out of the hands of a Broad Ripple opponent as Fred Durham waits for the ball.

Year Takes Many Foes By Surprise

Fred Durham, the Hornet's good natured center, fights for the ball. Up from last year's reserves, Fred did a fine job for the 1967 Varsity team.

Basketball has its wild moments. Dancing out of this football style pileup, Gene Holstein picks up the loose ball. Howe downed Bloomington, 79-58.

Coaches often find it necessary to revise their strategy during the game. As Cecil Cook takes a breather, Coach Stutz gives him some advice.

Junior Mike Jahnsen was a valuable man on the reserve team, and also saw some varsity action. He should be a valuable man next year.

Preparing the team mentally for the game is one of the harder jobs of the coach. The locker room is the scene for these vital sessions.

Successful Season

Gene Holstein tries to keep a Franklin Cub from scoring and Fred Durham waits for the rebound. The Hornets won by 17 points.

For the second year in a row, Hawe had a city champion basketball team. This year, however it was the reserve team that captured the city crown. The Harnets defeated Chartard, Attucks, Northwest, and Shortridge ta win the caveted title. This championshp speaks well for the future af Hawe basket-ball. With many talented underclassmen, Harnet teams in caming years should enjoy more winning seasons. Many juniors, saphamares, and even freshmen shaw great potential ta become outstanding players in the years ta came.

Not only was he plagued with inexperience, but he also had to find a new assistant in the middle of the season. But even with such problems, Coach Piercy did a commendable job of his new position. Undoubtedly, the outstanding member of the wrestling team was senior Bob Evans, in his fourth year as a varsity grappler. After being elected captain of the team his junior year, he fought his way to second place in the city in his final year. With many underclassmen this year, next year's team is sure to be a great improvement.

Walker Directs Strong Track Team

The first track season of Howe under the direction of Coach William Walker ended in a resounding success. The team compiled a record of 8-1 in dual meets, and third in the Sectional meet of twenty teams.

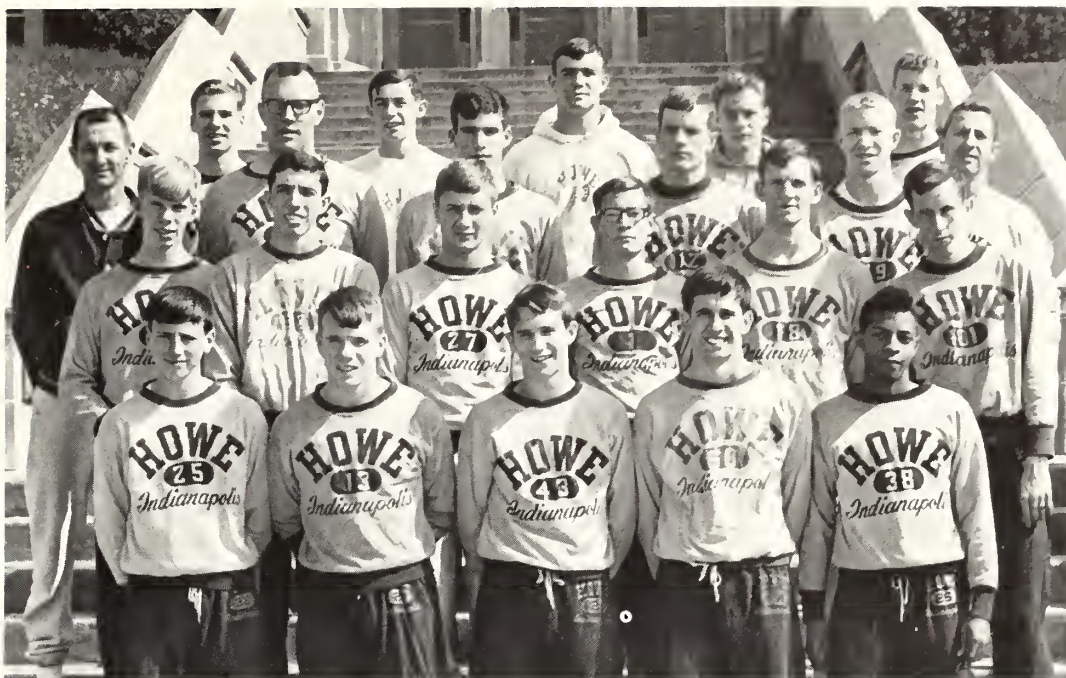

There were many outstanding members of the 1966 track team. Borry Show and Poul Morrison captured Sectional titles in the 880 yard run and the two mile run, respectively. Bruce Spear won first place in the low hurdles and second in the highs. Henry VanMaaren finished second in the mile run. Bruce took third in the Regional meet in both hurdle events, but failed to place in the state. The victories of the team during the regular season were truly a team effort. Poul Morrison established the only new record: 10:18.2 for the two mile run, the newest of the track events.

Doug King and Henry VanMaaren, who practiced many hours with the passing of the baton, show their form and pull ahead in the relay.

The duties of the coach are numerous. Mr. William Walker, track coach, doubles as trainer in times of need, wrapping Jack Martin's knee.

Although the major purpose of underclassmen athletics is to teach the boys the fine points of their sports and to prepare them for future varsity competition, the 1966 reserve and freshman track teams did very well in their meets.

The reserve track team compiled a dual meet record of four wins and two losses. They also scored well in two triangular meets. There were many talented athletes on the reserve team who showed great potential for development into excellent runners, jumpers, and hurdlers.

The freshmen, coached by Mr. Harrison Richardsan, won three and lost three dual meets and placed second in the city meet. It is an excellent indication of the ability of freshmen trackmen to stand up in stiff competition and come through with a good performance.

While Training For Varsity Team

Henry VonMooren was one of Howe's finest distance runners, both in track and cross-country. Straining for the top, he finishes the mile run.

Howe players congratulate each other after beating Southport. The game was the first regular high school game ever to be played at Victory Field.

For the twelfth straight year, Howe's varsity baseball team enjoyed a winning season. The Hornets compiled a season record of ten wins and eight losses in a season highlighted with many exciting contests. From the freezing cold days of early April to the sweltering hot afternoons of late May, the team did an admirable job of playing good baseball.

The 1966 team had many firsts to distinguish it from teams of past years. The Hornets were the first high school team to play a regulation game at Victory Field. In that game, Howe defeated Southport in a thrilling contest, 1-0. The diamondmen also won the first Howe Invitational by avenging an earlier loss to Northwest and then downing Arlington.

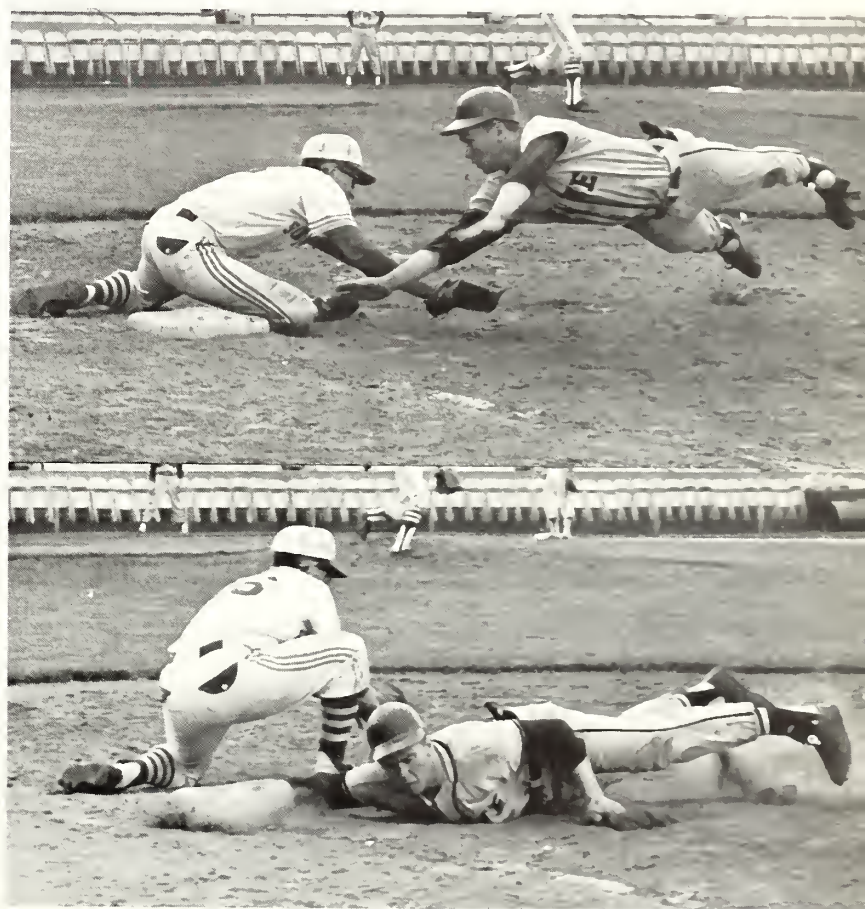

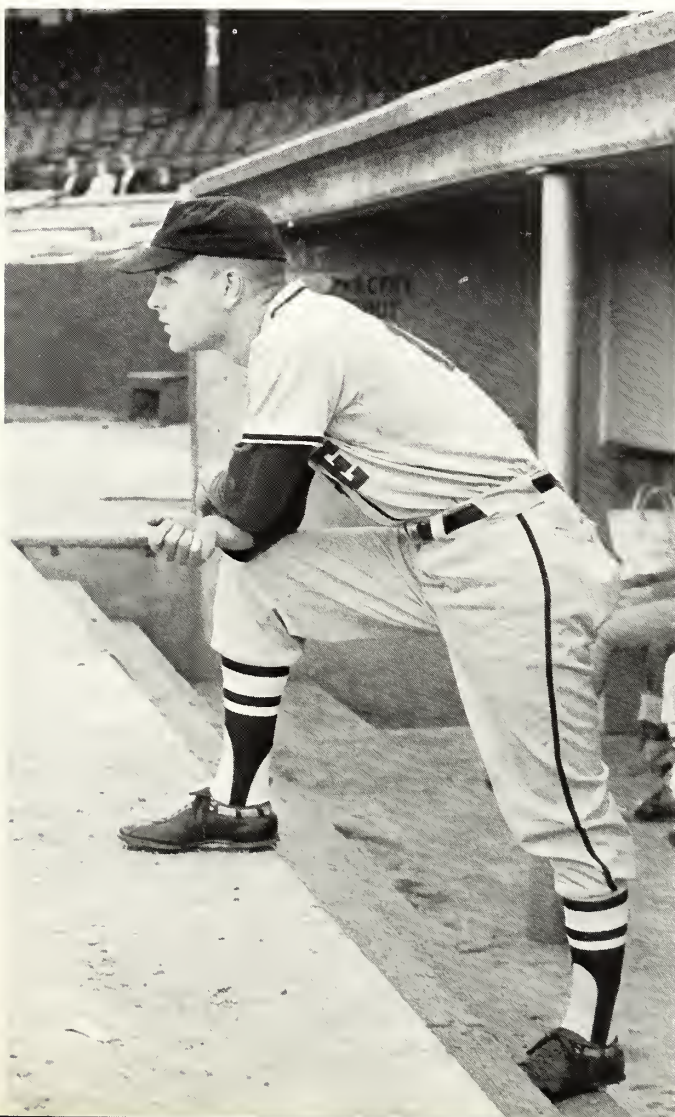

Several individuals were outstanding on the 1966 squad. Lorry Bishop was the Most Valuable Player for the second year in a row. He was also a top high school pick of several professional teams. Lorry was captain of the team, as well. Bill Freeman, Howe's superlative center fielder, was named the player with the best mental attitude. And, of course, Coach Roger Schroder was an outstanding member of the team. The 1966 season brought his overall record as the varsity baseball coach to 25 wins and 14 losses.

All-City catcher Larry Bishop was a three-year veteran on the varsity squad. He was a top choice of the California Angels professional team.

In Coach Schroder's Second Year

Coach Roger Schroder compiled another winning season in his second year of varsity coaching. The '67 outlook is even brighter.

Jim King "bites the dust" but scrambles back safe into first base. It is important that a base runner gauge his leadoff to avoid being put out.

With Victory Field as the background, senior moundsman Dave Silvers strains for added zip with his fast ball against Southport.

The freshmen started off with six straight wins before losing four of the last five games. But the team looked good in all its games, and it lost those four games by a total of only seven points. Mr. Dick Potterson coached the team.

Howe's reputation for fine baseball teams is sure to stay due to the fact that the reserve baseball team won the city championship. Although there is really no award given for this championship, it is an honor to have the winningest team in the city. The team lost only two games all season, one to Washington by one point, and the other to a powerful Southport team. Mr. Denny Krick, now a lecturer at Indiana University, coached the reserve diamondmen in 1966.

Golfers, Raquetmen Further Excellence

Mark Gerzon, City Singles Champ and Most Valuable Player 1966, displays his fine form in returning this serve.

The tennis team of 1966 closed the last coaching year at Howe for Lester Mathieson with a record of 6-8. There were several bright spots, though, with Most Valuable Player Mark Gerzon winning the City Singles division of the City Tennis Tournament. There were many underclassmen on the squad who should make the 1967 season a great one, the present team losing only Ed Johnson, Steve Willeford, and Mark Gerzon to graduation. Overall, the tennis team did very well in a rebuilding year, and the future is bright.

Without the proper tennis facilities here on the Howe campus, the team practices at Ellenberger Park, also the site of their home matches where the baseball team also plays their home games.

Sand traps pose a special problem to golfers. Bill Harding "explodes" the ball from the hazard. Accurate sand shots can save a round.

In Athletics

Howe's Linksmen compiled a 10—3 season record in 1966. Starting out with three straight losses, the Hornet golfers came on strong with a ten-match winning streak to finish the season. With all but two of the 1966 team returning, the prospects for 1967 are very good. Captain of the 1966 golf team was Bill Hording. The Howe golfers worked on skill and patience each afternoon in practices and matches. Cooch of "The Gentleman's Game" is "Gentleman Jim" Stutz. But he remarked that he didn't see why he should be called the cooch, since every member of his team can beat him.

In preparation for the Senior-Faculty game in the spring, the Faculty Fatmen participate in Intramurals for the practice and the fun.

Every year there are many more boys interested and capable for sports than may ever make a team. In order to allow these boys to participate, the Intramurals Program has been set up. Cross-country in the fall, basketball in the winter, and wrestling make for a well rounded sports program which every boy may follow. Under the direction of Mr. Dale Dinkens, the basketball is the most popular. Running in two leagues, on Monday and Thursday nights, the Freshman-Sophomore and Junior-Senior leagues run through the winter, with the winners of each league playing each other before the Senior-Faculty game. The Cross-country participants work out and run far one week in the fall, and run their meet at the end of the week. Those boys interested in wrestling practice for a week and wrestle for the title in each weight group. This program fills in a serious gap in our athletic program, giving everyone a chance to participate.

Intramurals Builds Character And Men

Each basketball game begins with a tip for the ball, and Intramurals is no exception. Straining for the toss are members of this year's teams.

Rebounds are as important to a basketball team as points, for many games are won or lost under the boards.

Unsung Heroes Work To Keep Teams Going

Many people think of the athletic managers as a "fifth wheel." Actually, the managers are more like the motor oil. Far from being an unnecessary burden, this hard-working group of boys keeps the teams in good shape and helps everything to run smoothly. The spectators, and sometimes even the coaches and players, do not realize the work that is put in by the managers to keep the thousands of pieces of equipment straight, keep several books of statistics for each sport, and treat the countless minor injuries that occur. Mr. Tam Nalepa and Mr. Dick Patterson served as trainers in the fall and winter.

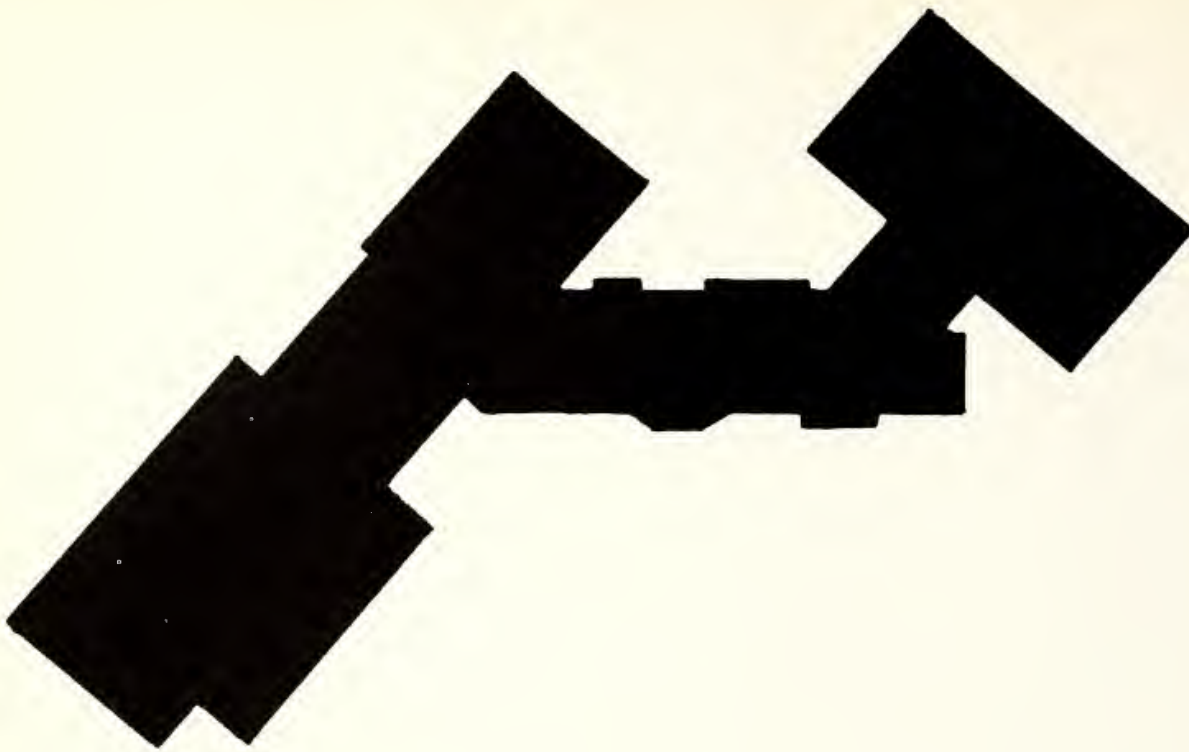

Mike "Bear" Brawn, a four-year basketball manager, packs up uniforms before an away game. Mike also keeps an important statistics chart.

Stacking footed wrestling managers Steve Johns and Dave Presti mop the big red mats. This weekly job protects the grapplers from infection.

ALBUM

The "greenies" or freshmen at Howe have many difficulties adjusting to high school life. Having their books knocked out of their arms, getting lost, and getting used to the confusion in the halls are parts of being a freshman. However, the discouraged freshmen soon become happy sophomores.

English themes and biology collections identify the sophomores of Howe. More active and self-confident than the freshman, second year students find new interests. It is no wonder that many students find their sophomore year very enjoyable, profitable, and interesting.

Every year juniors show the same enthusiasm for school activities. They avidly participate in all facets of extracurricular life. During the first semester, juniors choose their class rings as they start looking forward to a final exciting year at Howe as seniors.

Administration

Thomas Tatten, Junior Counselor, is frequently found casually conversing or trying to understand problems of pupils in the office.

The devoted administration backing the body of Howe is much appreciated by its students. No substitution could be made for the dedicated contributions made by the administration. The guidance it gives prepares students for later life and stimulates their minds. The administration molds the impressionable minds of Howeites. With this guidance, Howe pupils will become tomorrow's leaders.

The jobs of the principal, vice-principals, and the rest of the administration amount to very sizeable ones. The administration plans and regulates assemblies. Many out-of-school meetings are required of them; the job of keeping up on the new methods and ideas of administration is theirs.

Mr. Stirling, Principal, is responsible for making some of the most important decisions in the supervision of this first class high school. Right-hand men are Mr. Rüschrhaupt and Mr. Tout. These men are charged with the responsibility of student programming and counseling.

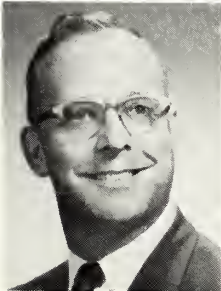

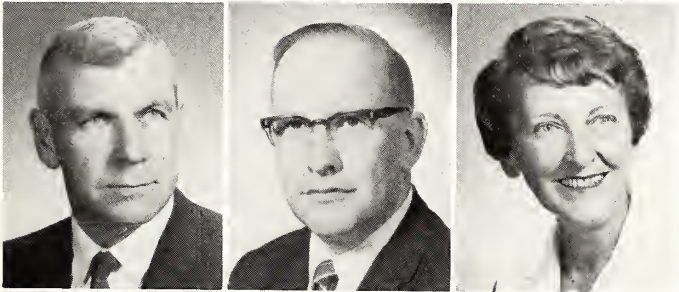

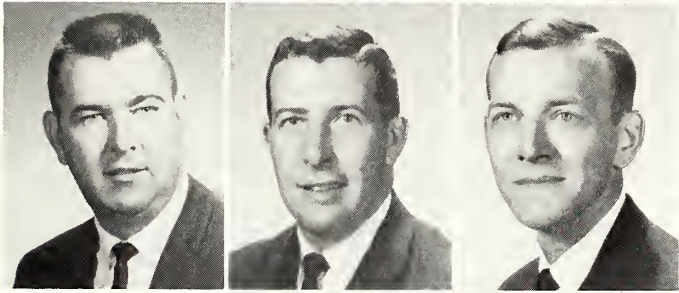

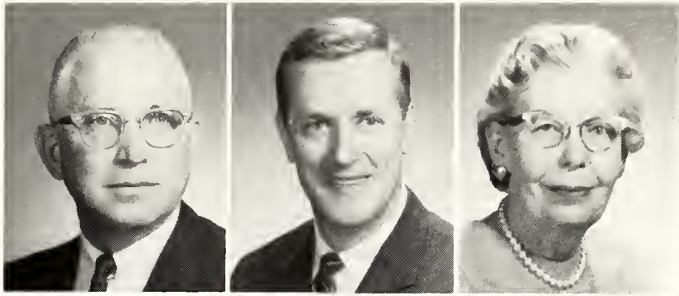

Bob Carnal, Dean of Boys, keeps law and order among the boys of Howe. In his first year as dean, he has proven to be quite competent.

As Vice-Principal, Charles Rüschrhaupt is a diligent worker in his occupation. Frank Tout is a Vice-Principal, too. The guidance and discipline of students is part of his job, as well as program planning.

Contributes Expert Advice To Students

Thomas Stirling, Howe's busy principal, finds his administrative position not only satisfying, but also demanding.

Mr. Rex Anderson, Sophomore counselor, checks student's programs and advises them in appropriate course plans.

While looking through the files, Mildred Loew, Dean of Girls, informally converses with John Trinkle, Freshman Counselor.

Members Of The P.T.A. Support Howe

Mrs. Frank Owings, former P.T.A. president, discusses with Mr. Stirling a new project. She now serves in the capacity of P.T.A. advisor.

Members of the faculty enjoy the Christmas party given by the ladies of the P.T.A. This is only one of the many projects undertaken each year.

The Parent-Teacher Association of Howe strives through many activities to better the school. The objective for 1966-1967 was "To develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for all youth the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education." Working with members of the faculty, the administration, and the students themselves, the P.T.A. under the direction of Mrs. Charles L. Poole has worked diligently for the betterment of Howe. The theme, "Accent On Youth", was carried out with programs concerning youth and the new trends in education. The Parent Education Program has attempted to answer parents' questions concerning curriculum in the school and the methods of grading and testing at Howe.

Goals for which the P.T.A. strived this year included one hundred per cent membership. The main money-raising activities, the concession stands and the annual card party, enabled them to purchase new uniforms for the cheerleaders early in the year, and many other projects were planned.

Mrs. Charles Poole, president of the P.T.A. for 1966-67, relaxes after the party given for the faculty at Christmas.

The Men's 400 Club is a Howe High School booster organization. The Club supports the policies of Howe High School and assists in programs designed to further unite the student, the parent, and the teacher in order that the highest objectives of education might be attained.

The Club endeavors to support the general welfare of all students by providing equipment and funds over and above that provided by the School Board. The Club also makes available and presents awards to students who, in the opinion of the faculty, deserve special recognition for scholastic, military, athletic or other outstanding achievements.

Members of the Men's 400 Club are given the opportunity to serve the youth of the community and to share with them their adventures in education and physical fitness. Men of the 400 Club are well deserving of Howe's praise.

President of the Men's 400 Club, Mr. Michael Dugan, outlines the objects and goals of the men to support the policies of Howe.

Working diligently at their jobs, the men of the 400 Club sell soft drinks, popcorn, and other assorted foods at the games.

School Personnel

Ruth Elder—Pupil Personnel Office, Alberto Follis—Evening School, Norris Heidelman—Secretary, Dorothy Heniser—Pupil Personnel Office, Jonet McNeill—Music Department Assistant, Claro Schaub—Administration Office, Vera Schmitz—Bookkeeper, Book Store Manager, Mory Schwier—Guidance Office, Eloise Steed—Registrar, Carol Vest—English Office, P.B.X. Operator.

The ladies of the office staff have many varied and important duties in which they perform valuable service to the school. Not only do they help members of the faculty, but also give helpful assistance to students. Working in the Guidance and Senior Offices, they assist counselors in the job of helping each student with his program. Pupil Personnel Office assistants help keep the records of each student enrolled at Howe in order. They also help the deans, Mrs. Loew and Mr. Carnal, in preparing the absentee lists each day. The Book Store is kept open by Mrs. Schmitz for the convenience of Howe pupils during the day and the summer months. Assisting in the Administration Office, members of the office staff work in helping Mr. Stirling, Mr. Ruschhaupt and Mr. Tout in the tremendous job of keeping Howe one of the most efficient and well-organized schools in the city. They also operate the switchboard, carry on correspondence for the school, work in the summer months to organize for the fall enrollment, and assist teachers with various problems.

Members of the office staff give helpful assistance to both students and teachers. Miss Carol Vest gives information to a member of the faculty.

Student assistant Valerie Sipole helps Mrs. Ruth Elder in preparing the absentee list for the day. This is only one of the many duties of the staff.

Keep Howe Running Efficiently

When students begin the school day, so do members of a staff that keeps the school running smoothly and with efficiency. The cafeteria staff begins early in the day to prepare the food that all, including students and faculty, enjoy every day. Keeping the cafeteria an important and efficient part of Howe is the job of the cafeteria staff.

The custodians, under the direction of Mr. John Duchemin, are an important part of keeping Howe a school running in perfect order. Their duties range from keeping halls and classrooms clean and in order to making sure that the school stays warm in the winter. Their diligence keeps the campus grounds neat from spring to fall.

The custodians, after a morning filled with many duties and hard work, relax during a free period and eat lunch.

Many sections of Howe are never seen by the majority of students. The boiler room is the scene of constant work on the part of the custodians.

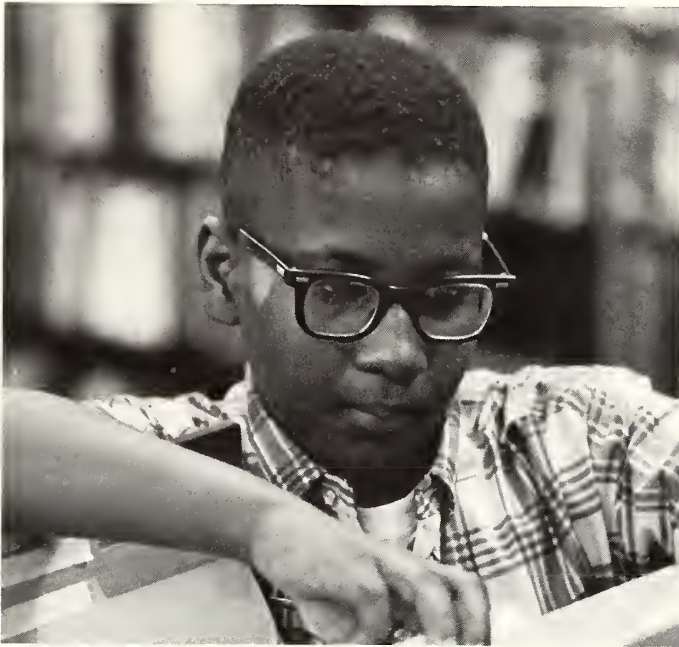

Not only do members of the cafeteria staff prepare food, but also work in various positions in one of the four serving and check-out lines.

The cafeteria staff works hard every day beginning early in the day to prepare the many tasty and nourishing dishes.

Frosh Engage In Traditional Projects As

Library lessons are only one of the many, unwelcome requirements fulfilled by the new first-year high school students.

Dubious freshmen started life at Howe with their goals and hopes set high. Teachers, friends and books soon became essential to them as they adjusted to the higher levels of education. Exit 5 was used until they became more familiar with the school and where their rooms were located. Dropping books and lunch trays were only a few of the many embarrassing moments all the students shared.

Beth Walters, adjusting to the higher levels of education, starts her first, exciting day of Howe by going to her locker.

Filling out forms is a Howe "tradition" which is experienced by every freshman entering the new world of the high school student.

"Experienced" Sophs Know How (e)

Diane Cary and Danna Taumey exhaust their resources, as well as exhausting themselves, while finishing their required vocational themes.

The class of "69" began their sophomore year by frantically stomping through neighbors' gardens in pursuit of an unusual species of the insect world.

As the weeks progressed and the bug collections were graded, our second year students completed their required research themes on the vocation they plan to enter. These occupations varied from the adventure filled life of an actress to the less eventful existence of a wheat farmer.

Another pastime of the sophomore is the solution of the given problem with the reasoning involved as a main objective of the geometry classes.

If one were to ask a sophomore about the biggest thrill of his second year of high school, his reply would be to the effect that he is no longer a "greenie".

Pupils find study halls in room 17 an experience to remember while listening to the thud of the gym classes overhead.

Grammar finals are dreaded by every student and English 3 pupil, Gary Barnard, is no exception as he strains his mind in thought.

Juniors Demonstrate Loyalty Through

Junior Morgoret Lake finds enjoyment in performing in our school orchestra. Morgoret is also one of many Howe students who are members of the All-City and All-State Orchestra.

English 5 requires spending many hours on research papers. Dove Gregory uses the card file for quick reference to material on his subject.

As a varsity cheerleader, Bonnie Dentler's enthusiasm is reflected in the response of Howe's student body and supporters. She also represents her home room in the Student Council.

Excelling in academics, sports, and the arts, the junior class has helped make this a prosperous year for Howe. Realizing that Tap Day for National Honor Society in April means having a high class standing, juniors had to maintain their grades. The class of '68 has contributed many skilled athletes to make this year one of achievement in sports. In music and art, juniors have brought honor to their school by participating in activities not directly related with the school.

SENIORS

Almost every student looks forward to becoming a senior. Those pupils who have achieved senior standing spend a year studying in preparation for a job or advanced schooling after they graduate. Seniors also have fun. As a class, they have several parties and they share senior hameroam.

Talented, skilled, and interested seniors participate in extra-curricular activities. Some excel in sports, some in academics. Many seniors enjoy musical endeavors, and others join clubs offering activities which interest them. Quite a few seniors work in a combination of these groups.

As the school year nears an end, seniors anticipate commencement and their debuts into the worlds of business and higher education. Having tried for four years to ready students; the faculty sees its success in the numerous achievements of former Haver pupils.

Final Year Is Drawn To A Close By

Scholastic achievement is the most important goal seniors strive for. Each year many students contribute to Howe's high standards by winning scholastic honors and awards. Achievement in 1967 was found in several fields: Two students won National Honor Society awards, and four were National Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalists. Many aspiring young scientists participated in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search; two students received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award for having the highest grade average in science. Two senior boys became candidates to Military Academies, and one girl was chosen as the Betty Crocker Future Homemaker. Anticipating college, many seniors applied for scholarships from universities across the United States. The class of 1967 has been proud of their academic strides during the year.

After four years of intense studying and learning, every senior earns his reward—graduation. When one receives his diploma, he finds appealing doors to the future unlocked. The world holds different fates for these young adults—marriage, immediate careers, or advanced training in college. However, without the last four years of development and education, graduates would find their doors to the future hard to open.

College looms in the future of many seniors; thus, the Senior Office provides information on several universities.

Dovid Cardwell, Bill Kirby, Mark Bradley and Wayne Wright (not pictured) are the 1967 National Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalists. The qualifying test was given in February of their junior year. Their bone scores were high enough to qualify them as semi-finalists.

Senior Activities And Achievements

The candidates of the 1967 Senior class Junior Prom were: Bill Watson, Janet Bristow, Pam Perin, Dave Miller, Brenda Young, Tom Barrett, Susie Thomas, and Ed Reinkin. Dave Miller and Pam Perin were chosen to reign.

While seniors enjoyed themselves at the Senior Winter Party, Mr. Murray demonstrated his fascinating "skill" at the drums.

The Senior year is not always burdened by term papers, S.A.T. tests and an arm full of books each night. Seniors look forward to various activities that are traditional for a graduating class. The Junior Prom begins the calendar of events which continue until the Senior Prom. In December the Senior Winter Party is held followed by the Senior Play in February. As Graduation nears activities increase. The Senior Bike Ride, Vespers, and Senior Class Day completes the week before Commencement. Finally, the calendar is brought to a close by the long-awaited Senior Prom which is traditionally held at the Indiana Roof following commencement.

Once again Seniors were transformed into actors and actresses as the class presented the comedy-drama "Death Takes a Holiday".

Committees Eagerly Serve Senior Class

Before class officers are elected each home room appoints one member to the Constitution committee and one member to the Colors committee. The Constitution committee draws up the rules and regulations the class will follow throughout the year. The Colors committee chooses the colors that will represent our class and designs the meaning behind each color.

Each year the class President appoints committees that render service and arrange activities for the seniors. Those who are willing to provide their time and effort are placed on committees. Early in December the Winter Party committee led by Tom Roda and Lana Alexander prepared for the dance by buying refreshments and decorations. Before Christmas vacation the class bought a Christmas tree which was decorated by a committee led by Randy Reinhardt. Behind the scenes the Senior Class Play committee headed by Mark Bradley and Ann Pinney worked on ticket sales and publicity. Jane Wolden and Bob Jacobi were in charge of arrangements for the Spring Party. Alyce Poyne was the chairman of the Gift committee. Ed Cord led the committee in charge of finding a prom band. Sherry Eggers and Susie Hine headed the Snapper committee. Each committee added to the success of the year's activities.

Adding to the sparkle of the season the Senior Christmas Tree was decorated in the lobby by the Christmas Tree Committee.

Officers Provide Valuable Leadership

Dove Miller

Alyce Poyne

Randy Reinhardt

Sherry Eggers

William Kirby

Jane Wolden

Each year the senior class elects six officers to provide responsible leadership. They are chosen through the process of continual elimination until the candidates are narrowed down to six qualified seniors. This year Dove Miller led the class as President followed by Alyce Poyne, First Vice-President; Randy Reinhardt, Second Vice-President; Sherry Eggers, Secretary; Bill Kirby, Treasurer; and Jane Wolden, Alumni Secretary. The officers worked together under the supervision of Mr. Murroy the senior counselor.

The position of class officer brings admiration, respect, and responsibility. President Dove Miller presides at all meetings, appoints committees, and directs activities. Alyce Poyne and Randy Reinhardt conduct class publicity, the commencement committee, and assist the President. Sherry Eggers is in charge of all the minutes from meetings and all correspondence. Bill Kirby supervises the collection of dues and assessments. Jane Wolden prepares alumni membership cards and a mailing list of names and addresses of the entire class. Each officer spends one period a day in the Senior office and often stays after school. During this time they assist seniors who buy cards, announcements, pay dues or seek information.

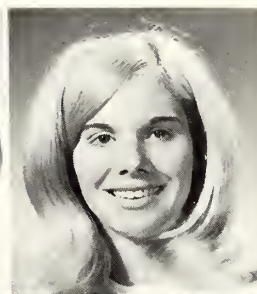

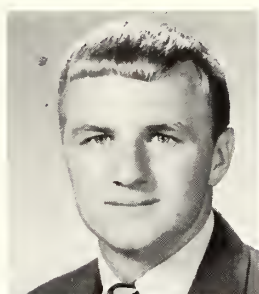

Senior officers never have a minute to spare since it is their duty to conduct all business transactions for the class.

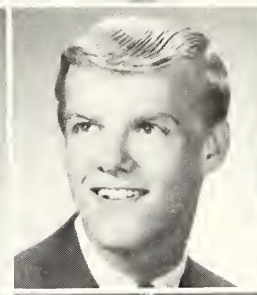

Mrs. Schwier works with students constantly from June to June to make certain that the senior year runs smoothly.

The 1967 HILLTOPPER had a good year at Howe to depict. Doing so was not an easy job, but it was made much easier through the cooperation of many individuals and a few firms dedicated to the excellence of student publications.

The cooperation of Tower Photography Studios of Indianapolis, the new member of the HILLTOPPER family, has been both immeasurable and invaluable. Jim Shields, owner of Tower Studios, and photographer Don McLaughlin have not only aided in the picture-taking, but also have been a great help in supplying our darkroom and training our student photographers. American Yearbook Company representative Bill Wright's advise and criticism, as well as that of Bob Blanton, area consultant, have been very constructive in times of indecision.

We are, of course, greatly indebted to the Howe administration for their continuous encouragement. We would also like very much to recognize Steven Wieneke, Howe senior, who designed our blueprint used throughout the book.

It takes more than a mere staff of twenty-seven students and one advisor to produce a yearbook, and it is, to a certain extent, the excellence of the other parties involved which will determine the quality of the book itself. If such is the case with the 1967 HILLTOPPER, this yearbook should surpass all previous editions.

A Blueprint For Progress . . .

A blueprint of the past and of the future is represented in this blueprint of the present . . . the HILLTOPPER for 1967. We have achieved our theme.

Our goal has been to give a view of our school in its search for Progress. This is shown by the cover design with its forward movement and by the blueprint which symbolizes Howe with its many additions.

However, we feel that this is only a small part of the progress of Howe and its community, for a great part lies in the future.
